Mort Des Bois La Brigitte Aubert:

Mostly French Alistair Rolls, 2009 This book which was inspired by a conference on plural conjugations of Frenchness La France au pluriel held in 2007 at the Universities of Technology Sydney and Newcastle focuses on the concept of national belonging as it pertains to detective fiction with particular emphasis on French and Australian detective fictions and the encounter and crossing over between them The objective is not only to use the concepts of French and Australian detective fiction productively via the analysis of French and Australian detective fiction novels but also to challenge and undermine the very notion of national detective fictions which are so often assumed to be transparently meaningful The contributors to this volume focus variously on the following areas comparative analysis of the genesis of French and Australian detective fiction translation of Australian and other novels into French translation as a genre Frenchness as a stereotype its role in individual novels and its spectre in all detective fiction and readings of individual French and Australian detective novels Overall this book aims to challenge assumptions about French detective fiction its influence on other national fictions and its explicit and implicit presence in all detective fiction

The Roman Noir in Post-war French Culture Claire Gorrara, 2003 The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers a lively introduction to the post war French roman noir from a cultural studies perspective A populist and widely disseminated genre the French roman noir has suffered from a reputation as a minor genre with its roots in American popular culture In this study Claire Gorrara challenges such preconceptions and examines how selected writers have appropriated the roman noir as a critical response to formative concerns and debates in post war French society Starting with the first truly French roman noir L o Malet s 120 rue de la gare 1943 and concluding with Maud Tabachnik s feminist thriller Un t pourri 1994 Gorrara analyses both texts and film in relation to their specific historical and cultural context From the heritage of the Second World War and France s wars of decolonisation to the rise of consumer culture and questions of gender and sexual equality the roman noir operates in dialogue with its times mediating social change and transformation with stories of crime transgression and marginality All the novelists studied were published initially in popular collections such as the S rie noire but they have been chosen for the innovation of their work and the exciting ways in which they resist tired conventions and offer new ways of representing social reality One of the first English language studies of this popular genre The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers much more than close readings of these fascinating texts it demonstrates the important contribution of the roman noir to the cultural histories of post war France

Reviewing Blindness in French Fiction, 1789-2013 Hannah Thompson, 2017-08-18 This book argues that the most interesting depictions of blindness in French fiction are those which call into question and ultimately undermine the prevailing myths and stereotypes of blindness which dominate Western thought Rather than seeing blindness as an affliction a tragedy or even a fate worse than death the authors examined in this study celebrate blindness for its own sake For them it is a powerful artistic and creative force which offers new and surprising ways of describing and relating to reality Canonical and lesser known novels from a range of genres including the roman noir science fiction auto fiction and realism are analyzed in detail to show how the presence of blind characters invites the reader to abandon his or her traditional reliance on the sense of sight and engage with the world in sensual and hitherto unexpected ways This book challenges everything we thought we knew about blindness and invites us to revel in the pleasures and perils of reading blind Brigitte Aubert
