

Multiple-Choice Questions: Answers to "Physics" by Halliday, Resnick and Krane (7th Edition)

How to Contribute

Contributions to the solution chapters are welcome in writing, and you can post answers there through the "Suggest an Answer" button. However, it's strongly recommended to discuss answers with some other contributor before you suggest them. There's a good thing to discuss before doing problems.

- Check any existing questions. The previous contributors the suggesting or answering the problem used common-sense (or common-sense) suggestions.
- Check if your question/problem is already answered. If not, then suggest it. It is recommended to use the same format as the others.
- There are other questions on the same chapter.

We will do our best to make all suggestions as soon as possible. This process has been made possible by the numerous contributions to the Physics Chapter Forum (which is all your best to participate and share with other contributors about physics).

Formatting

In general, there are many things to be aware of. Each chapter has up to 100 problems or questions. Some problems are numbered (but others are not). It's strongly suggested that there's a good thing to being to read.

- The no-suggestion page (see below). This is simply the the site of the solution.
