Pedagogy for Social Justice John Smyth, 2011-10-20 We live in a time when those who wield unrestrained power believe they have the inalienable right to determine the destiny nature and shape of social institutions like schools Critical Pedagogy for Social Justice challenges this arrogance by showing how teachers students parents communities and researchers can develop narratives that amount to working with and for those who are increasingly being silenced marginalized and excluded John Smyth sets out to revisit critical pedagogy from a number of key leverage points The overarching aim of this book is to unmask the deforming and distorting way power operates while at the same time revealing how a commitment to a more socially just world can exist in the everyday lives and narratives of people who have a passion for transformative possibilities His clear concise and persuasive book is ideal for those who are dissatisfied with the current turn in education and who are seeking an alternative set of views that emerge from the grounded experiences and practices in schools struggling with the most disadvantaged circumstances Ctet Central Teacher Eligibility Test Paper-1 (Class: 1-5) 15 Practice Sets

Gender-responsive approaches to the acceptability, availability and affordability of alcohol. Brief 11 World Health Organization,2024-03-07 Gender related norms persist in our societies including in the consumption of alcohol Despite knowing that men and women consume alcohol differently and are affected by its harm differently alcohol control policies remain essentially gender blind Highly gendered approaches to alcohol marketing and gender differences in patterns of alcohol consumption and its associated harm are well documented

Relatively little evidence has examined the different effects of population level alcohol control policies on different genders and even less has addressed how gender intersects with socioeconomic status age ethnicity and other factors Experiences from countries illustrate gendered approaches being used by the alcohol industry Brazil and the United States and the innovative ways that governments and civil society organizations are tackling the gendered effects of alcohol consumption This includes promoting employment outside the alcohol industry United Republic of Tanzania developing gender specific supports for alcohol consumption Pakistan and Scotland mobilizing civil society to enforce marketing bans Sri Lanka and creating culturally sensitive and culturally embedded policies Aotearoa New Zealand There is a clear need for policy relevant research that supports an increased understanding of what works for gender responsive approaches to reduce the harm caused by alcohol consumption
