Fuhrer, 2004 Cultivating Minds is a ground breaking unification of the ideas of Simmel and contemporary perspectives in cultural psychology The theoretical framework proposed is based on an integration of core philosophical sociological and psychological ideas from the intellectual traditions of pragmatism socioculturalism constructivism and transactionalism The primary focus of this work is on cultivation as a metaphor for identity formation According to this idea each and every human agent is an active producer of its own development and identity The cultivation model expands existing sociocultural perspectives by elaborating further how an individual's cultivation of the sociocultural environment is mediated through artefacts and objects a concept exemplified by the identity processes demonstrated by graffiti artists The idea of the cultured mind has profound implications not only for cultural psychology but also for theories of identity and of course development. It affects the way we understand the formation of the self and in the end the growth of the person. The result is a theory which captures the convergence between identity, culture, and development in new and far-reaching ways.

The Seven Steps to Help Boys Love School Linda Marie Gilliam, 2015-04-14. The 7 Steps to Help Boys Love School: Teaching to their Passion for Less Frustration is an easy-to-follow, humorous book with practical, researched strategies for ensuring boys' success in school, home, and in their future pursuits. More children are being misdiagnosed with ADHD; academics are required earlier in school; recess is being cut out, and many frustrated boys drop out by high school. This prevalent frustration can lead to a child's lack of self-confidence and self-worth, but worse yet, aggression. People are now realizing the increasing crisis facing us today with children slipping further and further behind other nations in Reading, Writing, Math, and Science. The many years of brain research prove over and over that boys and girls need different techniques in the classroom for their best learning environment. This book will guide teachers and parents in activities that are appropriate for boys to excel in learning.

Swami Vivekananda and Non-Hindu Traditions Stephen E. Gregg, 2019-03-15. The Hindu thinker Swami Vivekananda (1863-1902) was and remains an important figure both within India and in the West where he was notable for preaching Vedanta. Scholarship surrounding Vivekananda is dominated by hagiography and his misappropriation by the political Hindu Right. This work demonstrates that Vivekananda was no simplistic pluralist as portrayed in hagiographical texts, nor narrow exclusivist as portrayed by some modern Hindu nationalists, but a thoughtful, complex inclusivist. The book shows that Vivekananda formulated a hierarchical and inclusivistic framework of Hinduism based upon his interpretations of a four-fold system of Yoga. It goes on to argue that Vivekananda understood his formulation of Vedanta to be universal and applied it freely to non-Hindu traditions, and in so doing demonstrates that Vivekananda was consistently critical of low-level spirituality, not only in non-Hindu traditions but also within Hinduism. Demonstrating that Vivekananda is best understood within the context of Advaitic primacy rather than Hindu chauvinism, this book will be of interest to scholars of Hinduism and South Asian religion and of South Asian diaspora communities and religious studies more generally.
