Prasad, 2010-01-08. This book on New Architecture and Urbanism: Development of Indian Traditions builds on the contributions from various architects, planners, educationists, decision makers, others from across the world who gathered together to create a forum for the promotion of traditional processes and techniques for the creation of the built environment. This forum was initiated by INTBAU India: The International Network for Traditional Building Architecture and Urbanism in India and supported by The Nabha Foundation. This book presents the arguments, axioms and case studies related to Traditional Architecture and Urbanism in a sequential format. Firstly, it examines the New ways of looking at Heritage by separating it from pure history into a living and evolving process. The book looks at what defines traditional methods and their relevance to the contemporary context. It also examines the aspects of Continuity and Contextual frameworks in the built environment. The section on Sustainable Buildings, Places and Communities explores the many facets of locally driven processes from the viewpoint of tradition and sustainability. These include many community based planning methods and their applications in shaping the built environment, aspects of environmental sustainability and on how appropriateness could be ingrained into current architectural education. Lastly, the book delves into a number of executed examples in architecture seeking to learn from tradition and examples in place making, urbanism which in turn promotes humane, walkable and connected neighbourhoods. Renewable Energy Technologies L. A. Kristoferson, V. Bokalders, 2013-10-22. Renewable Energy Technologies: Their Applications in Developing Countries presents an overview and assessment of technologies for energy related projects in the rural sector of developing countries. This book discusses the important but not dominant role that new and renewable sources of energy (NARSE) will have in the Third World. Bioenergy fuel sources come from wood, fuel energy crops, agricultural residue and organic wastes, peat, biomass, briquettes, biogas and animal power. The text also describes the problems related to operating biomass engines and to the production of engine fuels such as alcohol, fuels, vegetable oil, producer gas made from wood and charcoal. These problems concern land use and site location for growing these fuel crops, government policies or subsidies as well as competition with prevailing petrol prices. Solar water heaters and photovoltaic cells can be used by households and in bigger institutions. Ongoing technological developments mainly focus on cutting down costs and better manufacturing methods. The book also addresses other NARSE such as hydro, wind and water.

power generation This book is suitable for economists environmentalists ecologists and policy makers involved in energy conservation and rural development

Architecture in Development Aggregate Architectural History Collaborative,2022-04-25

This extensive text investigates how architects planners and other related experts responded to the contexts and discourses of development after World War II Development theory did not manifest itself in tracts of economic and political theory alone It manifested itself in every sphere of expression where economic predicaments might be seen to impinge on cultural factors Architecture appears in development discourse as a terrain between culture and economics in that practitioners took on the mantle of modernist expression while also acquiring government contracts and immersing themselves in bureaucratic processes This book considers how for a brief period architects planners structural engineers and various practitioners of the built environment employed themselves in designing all the intimate spheres of life but from a consolidated space of expertise Seen in these terms development was to cite Arturo Escobar an immense design project itself one that requires radical disassembly and rethinking beyond the umbrella terms of global modernism and colonial modernities which risk erasing the sinews of conflict encountered in globalizing and modernizing architecture Encompassing countries as diverse as Israel Ghana Greece Belgium France India Mexico the United States Venezuela the Philippines South Korea Sierra Leone Singapore Turkey Cyprus Iraq Zambia and Canada the set of essays in this book cannot be considered exhaustive nor a field guide in the traditional sense Instead it offers theoretical reflections from the field based on extensive archival research This book sets out to examine the arrays of power resources technologies networking and knowledge that cluster around the term development and the manner in which architects and planners negotiated these thickets in their multiple capacities as knowledge experts as technicians as negotiators and as occasional authorities on settlements space domesticity education health and every other field where arguments for development were made
