Screening the Nonhuman Amber E. George, J.L. Schatz, 2016-04-27 Screening the Nonhuman draws connections between how animals represented on screen translate into reality In doing so the book demonstrates that consuming media is not a neutral act but rather a political one The images humans consume have real world consequences for how animals are treated as actors as pets and in nature The contributors propose that altering the representations of animals can change the way humans relate to non humans Our hope is for humans to generate more ethical relationships with non humans ultimately mediating reality both in terms of fiction and non fiction To achieve this end film television advertisements and social media are analyzed through an intersectional lens But the book doesn't stop here Each author creates counter representational strategies that promise to unweave the assumptions that have led to the mistreatment of humans and non humans alike addressed Rather than being constrained by psychoanalytical models of repression and castration the volume embraces M M Bakhtin's theory of the grotesque body For Bakhtin the grotesque body is always a political body one that exceeds the boundaries and borders that seek to contain it to make it behave and conform This vital theoretical intervention allows Transnational Horror Cinema to widen its scope to the social and cultural work of these global bodies of excess and the economy of their grotesque exchanges With this in mind the authors consider these bodies potentials to explore and perhaps to explode rigid cultural scripts of embodiment including gender race and ability Gender and Contemporary Horror in Film Samantha Holland, Robert Shail, Steven Gerrard, 2019-03-13 This edited collection focuses on gender and contemporary
