

Excellence in Art Education Award - Acceptance Speech

© Charles H. Cecil, 2008

Upon receiving the Excellence in Art Education Award from The Portrait Society of America on April 12th 2008, Charles H. Cecil gave the following acceptance speech:

I would like to thank the Portrait Society of America for this award and for its recognition of our efforts in Florence, the birthplace of the Renaissance and, it should be noted, the birthplace of John Singer Sargent.

When speaking of excellence in art education, we must remember that Sargent was one of the most thoroughly trained painters of his generation - first in Florence and then at the ateliers of Carolus Duran and Léon Bonnat in Paris. By the end of the nineteenth century the kind of training Sargent received was on the verge of dying out, though Sargent's visual procedure, his use of sight-size, was to have a profound and enduring impact on the Boston School. It was R.H. Ives Gammell who, in the aftermath of World War II, revived the atelier tradition and the sight-size technique. In the 1970s and 1980s, his pupil Richard Lack continued his work.

I was privileged to be trained by both men, and during my twenty-five years of teaching I have sought to pass on this legacy. Sight-size, when properly understood, is not a mere measuring technique but a philosophy of seeing. It is above all a portrait practice whose history extends back through Sargent to the British School of the eighteenth century, notably Reynolds, Gainsborough, Raeburn and Lawrence. Gammell had met Sargent in Boston in the 1920s, and he once told me that he considered Sargent to be our last link to the masters of the past. It is my opinion that the best way to emulate Sargent is not to

Presidential Speechwriting Kurt Ritter, Martin J. Medhurst, 2004-03-15 The rise of the media presidency through radio and television broadcasts has heightened the visibility and importance of presidential speeches in determining the effectiveness and popularity of the President of the United States Not surprisingly this development has also witnessed the rise of professional speechwriters to craft the words the chief executive would address to the nation Yet as this volume of expert analyses graphically demonstrates the reliance of individual presidents on their speechwriters has varied with the rhetorical skill of the officeholder himself his managerial style and his personal attitude toward public speaking The individual chapters here two by former White House speechwriters give fascinating insight into the process and development of presidential speechwriting from Franklin D Roosevelt's administration to Ronald Reagan's Some contributors such as Charles Griffin writing on Eisenhower and Moya Ball on Johnson offer case studies of specific speeches to gain insight into those presidents Other chapters focus on institutional arrangements and personal relationships rhetorical themes characterizing an administration or the relationship between words and policies to shed light on presidential speechwriting The range of presidents covered affords opportunities to examine various factors that make rhetoric successful or not to study alternative organizational arrangements for speechwriters and even to consider the evolution of the rhetorical presidency itself Yet the volume's single focus on speechwriting and the analytic overviews provided by Martin J Medhurst not only bring coherence to the work but also make this book an exemplar of how unity can be achieved from a diversity of approaches Medhurst's introduction of ten myths in the scholarship on presidential speeches and his summary of the enduring issues in the practice of speechwriting pull together the work of individual contributors At the same time his introduction and conclusion transcend particular presidents by providing generalizations on the role of speechwriting in the modern White House
