Homeschooling Black Children in the U.S. Khadijah Ali-Coleman, Cheryl Fields-Smith, 2022-01-01 In 2021 the United States Census Bureau reported that in 2020 during the rise of the global health pandemic COVID-19, homeschooling among Black families increased five fold. However, Black families had begun choosing to homeschool even before COVID-19 led to school closures and disrupted traditional school spaces. Homeschooling Black Children in the US: Theory, Practice, and Popular Culture offers an insightful look at the growing practice of homeschooling by Black families through this timely collection of articles by education practitioners, researchers, homeschooling parents, and homeschooled children. Homeschooling Black Children in the US: Theory, Practice, and Popular Culture honestly presents how systemic racism and other factors influence the decision of Black families to homeschool. In addition, the book's chapters illustrate in different ways how self-determination manifests within the homeschooling practice. Researchers Khadijah Ali-Coleman and Cheryl Fields-Smith have edited a compilation of work that explores the varied experiences of parents homeschooling Black children before, during, and after COVID-19. From veteran homeschooling parents sharing their practice to researchers reporting their data collected pre-COVID-19, this anthology of work presents an overview that gives substantive insight into what the practice of homeschooling looks like for many Black families in the United States. Tested Linda Perlstein, 2025-03-14 The pressure is on at schools
