

Reinforcement to Suspended Slabs

For alternative loading details for suspended slabs, it is advised that the user should refer to the relevant BS code of practice. Alternative reinforcement details can be used in the top of slabs for loading details not specifically covered by the code.

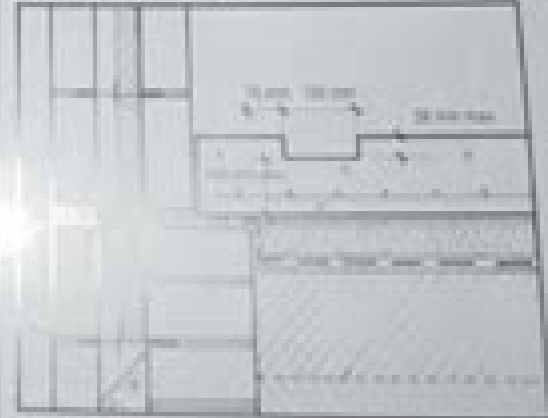

When a slab is continuous over a wall, all ground reaction reinforcement should be placed on the top of the wall to reduce the risk of cracking.

Edge reinforcement

Slab reinforcement

Slab thickness (mm)	Slab reinforcement (mm)	Slab reinforcement (mm)

125	125	125
150	150	150
175	175	175
200	200	200

For slabs to the use of B members, the following table gives the minimum slab reinforcement. The reinforcement should be placed in the direction of the span and be located in the middle of the slab. Bars should be placed where they are most likely to be required. The table assumes that the reinforcement is placed in the middle of the slab. Concrete and steel strength is given in the table.
