

SCIENCE PUZZLERS, TWISTERS & TEASERS

Forces in Motion

Letter Comet

1. Commander Eileen Collins was playing Scrabble® with her four-man crew on board the KC-135. In this game, new words are formed by adding wooden tiles, each with a letter and a point value, to a board. Each word must share at least one letter with the word it crosses. The numbers on the tiles are added to find the score for each word. When the crew of the KC-135 play, they use only words from their favorite chapter, "Forces in Motion."

Just after Commander Collins spelled centripetal on the board, the KC-135 tipped downward, throwing many of the tiles into free fall. Only the tiles that were sticky from yesterday's orange-juice spill didn't fly off. Help them figure out where the other tiles belong. (Each tile is used only once.) Write the correct letters on the board.

O, O, E, T, R, M, R, A, E, W,
N, T, U, N, F, R, E, S, P, A, S,

Pilot Jeffrey Ashby remembered that his score was 10 but forgot the word he'd spelled during his only turn. Which word did he spell?
