Barnes, 2012-12-06 Ideally a textbook should integrate with the lectures and labs in a science course Selecting such a book can be an onerous and sometimes impossible task for the teacher Students are wary of getting stuck with a useless book i.e. one to which the instructor never refers The reader probably has some practical appreciation of their concern I remember an instructor who not only denounced the very text he had chosen but also informed the class that he wouldn't be using it This was after I had already purchased a copy Being mindful of the foregoing I decided to try Barnes Atlas and Manual of Plant Pathology in 1973 Six years and 800 students later I have no regrets about my choice As far as I am concerned it is still the finest book of its kind on this continent Barnes Atlas contains an excellent blend of the diagnostic and experimental aspects of plant pathology His treatment of each disease on an individual basis allows the instructor to omit some pathogens without disturbing the book's continuity. My one semester course in Forest Pathology is largely descriptive. Strong emphasis is placed on field recognition of symptoms and signs. This is facilitated by Barnes technique. In a sequence of photographs the diseased plant or part is first viewed as a whole to show the general symptoms. This is usually followed by a close up of the signs. i.e.

A Manual for the Primate Serial Probe Recognition (SPR) Task, 2001

The Serial Probe Recognition (SPR) task utilizes a set of six images shown at a set interval followed by a probe and a white block. If the probe item was contained in the list, the probe is pressed. If the probe item was not in the previously viewed list, the white block is pressed. Before using the SPR task for screening potential pretreatment and therapy compounds against chemical warfare agents, improvements to the current SPR programming were necessary. Working with the DAKKRO Corp Aberdeen Proving Ground MD, an SPR program was written that allowed greater control over all parameters of the program. Working with Rhesus macaques (Macaca mulatta) the program was tested and corrected as needed. Animals were able to adjust to the new program quickly and required very little new training. The program proved to be user friendly and allowed investigators to adjust the program configuration easily. The analysis program reduces analysis time from 40 minutes per animal per day to less than one minute per animal per day. Program use is outlined and a short tour of the program is provided showing how to create an animal file, set up an animal information file, perform an experimental run, analyze data and delete animal files.
