Strategic Marketing in Library and Information Science Linda S Katz, 2013-03-07 Combine marketing and strategic planning techniques to make your library more successful With cutting edge research studies as well as theoretical chapters that have not been seen before in the marketing literature for LIS this book examines the current and quite limited state of marketing by LIS practitioners and institutions. It provides you with examples of how marketing can be made more widely applicable within LIS and illustrates some of the usefulness of marketing in special LIS settings and contexts. The book explains how and why managers should combine marketing strategy with strategic planning and demonstrates the means by which LIS could move toward a more full fledged use of marketing. Relationship marketing and social marketing in particular. In order to be a more effective tool. Strategic Marketing in Library and Information Science is divided into two sections: The Basis and Context for Marketing (theoretical information) and The Application of Marketing (practical applications that you can put to use in your institution). Chapters cover existing literature on marketing in LIS, what it has to offer and what it lacks; strategic planning that must take place before marketing money is spent; the branding process and how it can be helpful in LIS marketing; a marketing method for bridging the gap between staffing needs and the current shortage of librarians; a way to use relationship marketing techniques to respond to the challenge of marketing electronic resources; marketing applications relevant to theological libraries; the effective use of social marketing at the Austin History Center; a fascinating case study; a fresh marketing approach to bridging gaps between cultural history and education; the importance of marketing for public libraries.

Marketing for Attorneys and Law Firms William Winston, 2013-04-15 Marketing for Attorneys and Law Firms presents timely topics which are well researched and written by a fine array of authors from around the country. As attorneys are becoming more interested in marketing and how it can benefit their practices, this book is an important tool. It aids attorneys as they evaluate and improve old marketing strategies and create new marketing strategies where such advertising was neglected. It is an ideal readings text for today's attorney and legal consultants who wish to obtain a better insight into select aspects of marketing the law firm. This is the only readings book that focuses on these areas: applications of marketing planning, attorney selection by consumers and client, and provider attitudes toward legal services. Part Two thoroughly examines various aspects of how clients select and evaluate the performance of legal services. Today's attorneys must first fully understand what their clients perceive about their services before jumping into marketing their services. This section provides insight that most attorneys would normally not investigate and lays the groundwork for the development of marketing programs. Part Three addresses the wide use of legal advertising and again provides insight into what clients and attorneys think and perceive about various forms of advertising the law firm. This provides a base from which attorneys who are planning to advertise may be able to prevent failure and promote a greater level of success for the advertising program. Applied mainly to private legal practices and clinics, some of the specific topics covered in the three sections include: consumers' perceptions of attorneys and legal advertising, attorneys' perceptions of marketing and advertising, perceived risk in selecting an attorney, and how consumers actually select attorneys. Customer/client service attributes for attorneys, measuring the effectiveness of legal advertising, market planning, and strategies for today's legal practice, promoting the legal practice, and developing referral and networking systems in legal practice. For attorneys in private practice, law firm libraries, and administrators, law professors who specialize in practice development, consultants who concentrate in legal practice marketing, law school libraries, and marketing professors and consultants who teach or consult in the professional service sectors should read this invaluable reference book.
