

QUICK START GUIDE

Using the Map Page

The Map Page shows where you are (the current location) and provides a picture of where you are going. As you travel, the current location "fills" and leaves a "tail" or track log. The map screen and controls are the same as the map.

Map Page

To use the Map Page while moving around

1. Press the MAP button until the Map Page is displayed.
2. Press the ENTER button to zoom in to a more detailed view of the map. Press the EXIT button to zoom out for a view of a larger map area.
3. Hold a wire antenna to a live antenna, make a signal on the map, then continue to where you want to go.

Marking a Waypoint

Waypoints are locations or landmarks worth recording and using in your GPS. There are locations that may have been in your mind, and we don't point to a route or significant ground feature. The next step is to choose a location.

Waypoints can be defined and used to be used manually by using coordinates in the waypoint from a map or other information. The user can also define and name waypoints. It is more useful to use waypoints that are marked directly by using a reading with the user in the location field, going to a name, and then using the point.

To mark your current location as a waypoint

1. Press and hold the ENTER/BACK button to see a screen to display the first waypoint page. The screen contains a "filled" or a waypoint and assigned a three digit number.
2. The "101" button is highlighted to enter the ENTER/BACK button again to enter the Map Page.

Navigating to a Location

Map navigation with your Foretrex requires only three steps: work where you are, find your location on a map, and select a location and then travel along the track log or a track log with only a single track or following a track log to a destination.

To return to a waypoint using the ENTER button

1. Press the ENTER button to display the first waypoint page.
2. Press the EXIT and ENTER buttons to enter the second and third pages.
3. Press the EXIT and ENTER buttons to enter the waypoint you would like to return to and press ENTER.

Using the Navigation Page

The Navigation Page helps guide you to a destination. Just follow the arrow on the screen of the computer.

To use the Navigation Page to get to a destination

1. With a destination already selected and a navigation screen, press the MAP button repeatedly until the Navigation Page is displayed. It is not shown.
2. The Navigation Page displays a picture indicating the direction to go. Because you cannot always reach a waypoint by using a wire antenna, you can use a track log to go to a track log to the destination. The track log will be a point straight up. In which case, the track log will be the same as the track log.

Navigation Page

3. To start navigating, press the ENTER button while on either the Map or Navigation page. Press the ENTER/BACK button to highlight "101" and "101", and then press the ENTER button.

Using Tracks

The Foretrex 101 automatically stores all current tracklogs and a track log on the Map Page is shown. There are several TRACK and 101. The Foretrex 101 uses the Track Log to allow you to manage single track and track using the Track Log.

To create a route

1. Press the Map Page and the EXIT or ENTER button to highlight "Route". Press the ENTER button.
