Human Development D. A. Louw, 1998 Exploring the Dynamics of Human Development Catherine Raeff, 2016

Researchers and students in developmental psychology have pointed out that the numerous findings from research about human development seem disconnected and that it is difficult to fit fragmented bits of information together. Studies of separate domains of functioning e.g. cognition, emotion, language, social relationships, identity, divide the field and there are increasing calls for integrative conceptions of human development. In Exploring the Dynamics of Human Development Dr Catherine Raeff constructs a theoretical framework that enables readers to reconcile seemingly disparate information by thinking systematically about dynamic developmental processes. This approach integrates systems theory, organismic developmental theory and sociocultural theory as well as research across cultures and the life span. Raeff brings developmental processes into coherence by building a unified theoretical framework that is organized around the following questions: What develops during development? What happens during development? and How does development happen? Using a wide range of illustrative empirical examples, Raeff conceptualizes what happens during development in terms of differentiation and integration and explains how development happens through individual, social and cultural processes. The framework helps to overcome confusion in the field and explore issues such as individual and cultural variability, looking beyond age-based changes to understand development and resolving fragmentation by starting with whole person functioning. The framework also opens up new directions for research. This book will be useful to developmentalists, graduate students, upper level undergraduates and others who seek an integrative understanding of the field as a whole and a systematic way of thinking about and investigating human action and development.

Theories of Human Development

Barbara M. Newman, Philip R. Newman, 2015-06-26. Key human development theories that continue to guide research and practice are examined in this engaging text. Ten key theories are grouped into three families: those that emphasize biological systems, environmental factors and those that reflect an interaction between the two. This organization enhances students' ability to evaluate, compare and contrast theories both within and across families. Each family is introduced with an overview of their unique perspectives and the rationale for grouping them together. Discussion of each theory includes the cultural/historical context during the theory's development, its key concepts and ideas, extensions of the theory in contemporary work, an example showing a modification of the theory, an application of how the theory is used to inform practice and an analysis of how the theory answers 6 basic questions that a human development theory should address. Each chapter includes an overview of the strengths and weaknesses of the theories to facilitate comparisons. Theories that have a clear lifespan focus along with cases and examples that address issues across the lifespan are included. The second edition features a new chapter on bioecological theory that highlights the increased use of this theory in the development of family, school and community intervention programs. A new epilogue that examines the same case via each of the ten theories illustrating their similarities and differences and how these ideas cast a unique light on a common situation New opening cases that bring theory to life along with narrative that links the case to the chapter's concepts guiding questions that help students compare theoretical perspectives critical thinking questions that focus on using the theory to interpret the case and personal life experiences and recommended resources that extend students understanding More examples from various disciplines that address topics students are likely to encounter as professionals A new glossary that defines the boldfaced key terms Enhanced website at www.psyppress.com 9781848726673 that provides instructors with a test bank Power points discussion questions and activities additional cases with questions teaching notes for using the book with various types of majors and a conversion guide outlining changes to the new edition and students with key terms with hot links to their definitions chapter summaries and outlines and additional resources for further study Updated research and applications highlight the latest scientific developments Ideal for advanced undergraduate or beginning graduate courses in theories of development lifespan or child development taught in psychology human development family studies education and social work Peacebuilding and Sustainable Human Development Ayesah Uy Abubakar, 2019-01-07 This book presents the protracted right to self determination conflict between the Philippine state and the Bangsamoro group in Mindanao Philippines In the five decades of attempts to achieve peace a key element is the Bangsamoros search for a kind of development that is compatible with their aspirations for freedom and their future This book presents a study of the Bangsamoro communities and their social constructions of conflict peace and development It examines the viability of the sustainable human development framework for application in their challenging realities The usefulness of the sustainable human development framework lies not only in its use of human development parameters like the Human Development Index It also provides an approach towards development that synergizes with the sustainable peace framework an imperative for Mindanao At the centre of this approach is the Participatory Rural Appraisal and Participatory Learning and Action methodology for eliciting responses stimulating discussion documenting verbal and non verbal ideas and carrying out small scale projects to demonstrate community participation The book concludes with two main points that a both sustainable human development and peacebuilding are mutually reinforcing frameworks aimed at achieving the same human development goals and b the pursuit of the right to self determination is enhanced as both frameworks are combined to provide a context for the attainment of peace in Mindanao Clinical child psychology ,2009 Gender-Based Violence in Children's Sport Gretchen Kerr, 2022-10-28 This book addresses the major forms of Gender Based Violence GBV in children's sport including sexual physical and psychological violence and neglect It reviews the historical sociocultural and political influences on violence towards children and sets out future agendas for research and practice to eliminate GBV in sport The book argues that for GBV to occur and be sustained over time it must be facilitated by a system that enables this violence protects the perpetrator disables bystanders silences the victims and or fails to provide a structure by which to address victims or bystanders
