The Effect of Algebra Support Classes on EOCT Scores and SGP Data Lynn Harris Parker, 2015 Schools are having to find innovative ways to increase the instructional time in the school day to not only address deficiencies in student mathematical knowledge but to also increase the academic rigor and prepare students for college and careers The most popular approach is double dosing where students give up an elective class in order to take an additional mathematics class Whereas this is a popular approach there have not been very many studies on the effectiveness of this practice This study adds to the body of knowledge on double dosing by analyzing the effectiveness of the support class through student achievement on the state End of Course Coordinate Algebra test as well as through Student Growth Percentiles Analysis of Covariance ANCOVA was used for all analyses Criterion Referenced Competency Test scores were used as the covariate The participants in this study were first time freshmen enrolled in Coordinate Algebra in an urban district of approximately 25 000 total students Data indicated that the interaction between support classes and school year were trending toward significance for both the End of Course scores $p = .056$ as well as Student Growth Percentiles $p = .068$ In the second year of the study students enrolled in the Mathematics Support class scored higher on the End of Course test and had higher Student Growth Percentiles Additionally there was a significant main effect for support class on the Student Growth Percentiles $p = .028$ Students in the support class did achieve significantly higher growth than students who were not concurrently enrolled in the support class Whereas increases in mathematical growth do not necessarily result in increases in achievement scores as evidenced by the data in this study the Mathematics Support classes are effective in increasing student learning in mathematics

The Relationship Between Test Scores on Multiple Choice High-stakes Tests and High-stakes Tests that Include Constructed Responses Natalie Hise,2016 This study examines the relationship between the test scores of Georgia high school students on the multiple choice End of Course Test EOCT and the Georgia Milestones End of Course GAMEOC test which include constructed response The study is a non experimental correlational study that uses ex post facto data Scores were examined from an urban high school in Georgia using the Coordinate Algebra and Analytic Geometry scores from the 2013 14 EOCT tests and 2014 15 GAMEOC tests Scores were collected from the district office of the sample school with a sample size of 2702 test scores and then analyzed using a point biserial test to test for a relationship between test scores The results of the statistical tests showed that students perform better on the multiple choice EOCT test than on the GAMEOC test that includes constructed responses Special education students performed better on the multiple choice test at a higher level than general education students
