The Ladies' Repository, 1870 Someone Michael Lucey, 2019-04-05 Imagine trying to tell someone something about yourself and your desires for which there are no words What if the mere attempt at expression was bound to misfire to efface the truth of that ineluctable something In Someone Michael Lucey considers characters from twentieth century French literary texts whose sexual forms prove difficult to conceptualize or represent The characters expressing these misfit sexualities gravitate towards same sex encounters Yet they differ in subtle but crucial ways from mainstream gay or lesbian identities whether because of a discordance between gender identity and sexuality practices specific to a certain place and time or the fleetingness or non exclusivity of desire Investigating works by Simone de Beauvoir Colette Jean Genet and others Lucey probes both the range of same sex sexual forms in twentieth century France and the innovative literary language authors have used to explore these evanescent forms As a portrait of fragile sexualities that involve awkward and delicate maneuvers and modes of articulation Someone reveals just how messy the ways in which we experience and perceive sexuality remain even to ourselves

Martin,2016-09-30 In the twenty first century American popular culture increasingly makes visible the performance of African spirituality by black women Disney s Princess and the Frog and Pirates of the Caribbean franchise are two notable examples The reliance on the black priestess of African derived religion as an archetype however has a much longer history steeped in the colonial othering of Haitian Vodou and American imperialist fantasies about so called black magic Within this cinematic study Martin unravels how religious autonomy impacts the identity function and perception of Africana women in the American popular imagination Martin interrogates seventy five years of American film representations of black women engaged in conjure

hoodoo obeah or Voodoo to discern what happens when race gender and African spirituality collide She develops the framework of Voodoo aesthetics or the inscription of African cosmologies on the black female body as the theoretical lens through which to scrutinize black female religious performance in film Martin places the genre of film in conversation with black feminist womanist criticism offering an interdisciplinary approach to film analysis Positioning the black priestess as another iteration of Patricia Hill Collins notion of controlling images Martin theorizes whether film functions as a safe space for a racial and gendered embodiment in the performance of African diasporic religion Approaching the close reading of eight signature films from a black female spectatorship Martin works chronologically to express the trajectory of the black priestess as cinematic motif over the last century of filmmaking Conceptually Martin recalibrates the scholarship on black women and representation by distinctly centering black women as ritual specialists and Black Atlantic spirituality on the silver screen

The Ladies' Repository, 1870 The idea of this women's magazine originated with Samuel Williams a Cincinnati Methodist who thought that Christian women needed a magazine less worldly than Godey's Lady's Book and Snowden's Lady's Companion Written largely by ministers this exceptionally well printed little magazine contained well written essays of a moral character plenty of poetry articles on historical and scientific matters and book reviews Among western writers were Alice Cary who contributed over a hundred sketches and poems her sister Phoebe Cary Otway Curry Moncure D Conway and Joshua R Giddings and New England contributors included Mrs Lydia Sigourney Hannah F Gould and Julia C R Dorr By 1851 each issue published a piece of music and two steel plates usually landscapes or portraits When Davis E Clark took over the editorship in 1853 the magazine became brighter and attained a circulation of 40 000 Unlike his predecessors Clark included fictional pieces and made the Repository a magazine for the whole family After the war it began to decline and in 1876 was replaced by the National Repository The Ladies' Repository was an excellent representative of the Methodist mind and heart Its essays sketches and poems its good steel engravings and its moral tone gave it a charm all its own Cf American periodicals 1741-1900

Young,2005-03-08 In Masquerade Alfred F Young scrapes through layers of fiction and myth to uncover the story of Deborah Sampson a Massachusetts woman who passed as a man and fought as a soldier for seventeen months toward the end of the American Revolution Deborah Sampson was not the only woman to pose as a male and fight in the war but she was certainly one of the most successful and celebrated She managed to fight in combat and earn the respect of her officers and peers and in later years she toured the country lecturing about her experiences and was partially successful in obtaining veterans benefits Her full story however was buried underneath exaggeration and myth some of which she may have created herself becoming another sort of masquerade Young takes the reader with him through his painstaking efforts to reveal the real Deborah Sampson in a work of history that is as spellbinding as the best detective fiction Littell's Living Age Eliakim Littell,Robert S.
