Smart Geography Stoyan Nedkov,Georgi Zhelezov,Nadezhda Ilieva,Mariyana Nikolova,Boian Koulov,Kliment Naydenov,Steliyan Dimitrov,2019-10-05 This book focuses on new and innovative spatial approaches based on smart solutions and developed in the field of geography and related interdisciplinary fields such as urban and regional studies landscape ecology and ecosystem services It includes contributions from a conference dedicated to the 100th anniversary of the Bulgarian Geographical Society In turn the book reveals how 21st century geography is expected to facilitate the development of human capital and the knowledge society while also offering place specific solutions for sustainable regional development and utilization of the planet's natural and human capital to improve social wellbeing This volume is intended for the global geographical research community as well as professionals and practitioners in all fields that deal with space including regional planners and environmental managers The Mediterranean Redux Naor H Ben-Yehoyada,Paul Silverstein,2022-04-27 This book on historical anthropology remaps the Mediterranean by reframing classical themes from early Mediterraneanist anthropology This edited volume showcases how anthropology can contribute to an understanding of ongoing transnational dynamics and the new wave of scholarship on the Mediterranean The Mediterranean is back as a locus of international anxiety and academic concern It has reemerged in the international news cycle as a space of desperate crossings and tragic endings as the site in which a refugee crisis rivalling that of the Second World War is playing out in real time for a global viewing public The scale of the crisis has called into question Europe's humanitarian principles and internal political union making the Mediterranean into a mirror for long standing tensions between norms of universalism and demands for national security These captivating events have further raised the tide of scholars interest in the Mediterranean How should ethnographers contribute to the new wave of scholarship on the Mediterranean To what extent does the Mediterranean offer alternative forms of political relatedness to those construed from within Europe North Africa and the Middle East In this volume we reframe classical themes from early iterations of Mediterranean anthropology to address these questions in our examinations of changing dynamics across land and sea borders bringing ethnography back to the study of the Mediterranean and the Mediterranean with its Mediterraneanism back to ethnography The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal History and Anthropology

Ancient Perspectives Richard J. A. Talbert, 2014-02-14 Ancient Perspectives encompasses a vast arc of space and time Western Asia to North Africa and Europe from the third millennium BCE to the fifth century CE to explore mapmaking and worldviews in the ancient civilizations of

Mesopotamia Egypt Greece and Rome In each society maps served as critical economic political and personal tools but there was little consistency in how and why they were made Much like today maps in antiquity meant very different things to different people Ancient Perspectives presents an ambitious fresh overview of cartography and its uses The seven chapters range from broad based analyses of mapping in Mesopotamia and Egypt to a close focus on Ptolemy's ideas for drawing a world map based on the theories of his Greek predecessors at Alexandria The remarkable accuracy of Mesopotamian city plans is revealed as is the creation of maps by Romans to support the proud claim that their emperor's rule was global in its reach By probing the instruments and techniques of both Greek and Roman surveyors one chapter seeks to uncover how their extraordinary planning of roads aqueducts and tunnels was achieved Even though none of these civilizations devised the means to measure time or distance with precision they still conceptualized their surroundings natural and man made near and far and felt the urge to record them by inventive means that this absorbing volume reinterprets and compares A History of the World in Twelve Maps Jerry Brotton,2012-09-06 Jerry Brotton is the presenter of the acclaimed BBC4 series Maps Power Plunder and Possession Here he tells the story of our world through maps Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects world maps are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world whether the Jerusalem centred Christian perspective of the 14th century Hereford Mappa Mundi or the Peters projection of the 1970s which aimed to give due weight to the third world Although the way we map our surroundings is once more changing dramatically Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been but that they continue to make arguments and propositions about the world and to recreate shape and mediate our view of it Readers of this book will never look at a map in quite the same way again

Writing North America in the Seventeenth Century Catherine Armstrong,2016-12-05 Since the first permanent English colony was established at Jamestown Virginia in 1607 and accounts of the new world started to arrive back on the English shores English men and women have had a fascination with their transatlantic neighbours and the landscape they inhabit In this excellent study Catherine Armstrong looks at the wealth of literature written by settlers of the new colonies adventurers and commentators back in England that presented this new world to early modern Englanders A vast amount of original literature is examined including travel narratives promotional literature sermons broadsides ballads plays and journals to investigate the intellectual links between mother country and colony Representations of the climate landscape flora and fauna of North America in the printed and manuscript sources are considered in detail as is the changing understanding of contemporaries in England of the colonial settlements being established in both Virginia and New England and how these interpretations affected colonial policy and life on the ground in America The book also recreates the context of the London book trade of the seventeenth century and the networks through which this literature would have been produced and transmitted to readers This book will be valuable to those with interests in colonial history the Atlantic world travel literature and historians of early modern England and North America in general
