

Introduction to PowerPoint 2010

PowerPoint is a popular software application which has been around since 1986. It is used to create presentations, which are a series of slides that can be displayed on a screen or printed out. It is a powerful tool for creating professional-looking presentations that can be used in a variety of settings, from business meetings to classroom lectures.

PowerPoint Presentation Structure

PowerPoint presentations are structured into slides, which are the basic building blocks of the presentation.

1. The Slide Show view is the most common view for viewing a presentation. It allows you to see the slides in sequence, one at a time.

2. The Normal view is the default view for creating and editing slides. It shows the slide in the center of the screen, with a sidebar on the left containing the Slide Sorter and Slide Show views. The Slide Sorter view allows you to see all the slides in the presentation at once, and the Slide Show view allows you to see the slides in sequence, one at a time.

3. The Slide Sorter view is used for organizing the slides in the presentation. It allows you to see all the slides in the presentation at once, and to move them around as needed.

PowerPoint presentations are typically organized into sections, which are groups of related slides.

4. The Section Header slide is used to introduce a new section of the presentation. It typically contains a title and a brief description of the section.

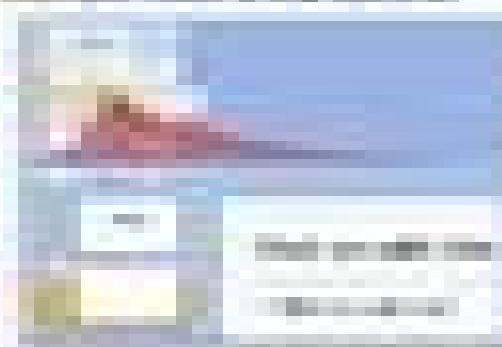

PowerPoint Presentation Design

PowerPoint presentations should be designed to be visually appealing and easy to understand. This involves using a consistent color scheme, font, and layout throughout the presentation.

5. The Design tab in the PowerPoint ribbon allows you to apply pre-designed themes to your presentation. These themes provide a consistent look and feel to your presentation, including colors, fonts, and layouts.

6. The Format tab in the PowerPoint ribbon allows you to customize the appearance of individual slides. This includes changing the background color, font, and layout of the slide.

PowerPoint presentations should be designed to be easy to navigate. This involves using clear navigation controls, such as arrows and a table of contents, to help the audience find the slides they are interested in.
