L'historiographie Tardoantique Et La Transmission Des Savoirs:

L'historiographie tardo-antique et la transmission des savoirs Philippe Blaudeau, Peter Nuffelen, 2015-07-01 Late Antiquity witnessed enormous cultural changes affecting all areas of intellectual life. Historiography is one of the most characteristic genres of this period and perhaps one of the most innovative ones. This volume seeks to understand how historiography both responded to the cultural changes and shaped these at the same time. Indeed, a historiographical work aims at providing its readers with experiences from the past and at interpreting these in a meaningful way and often seeks to integrate this type of knowledge into a wider body of knowledge. This theme is explored from six angles in the present volume: 1 the relationship between historiography and rhetoric; 2 the transmission of classical rhetorical culture to areas beyond the Roman Empire; 3 the circulation of information, traditions and documents in the whole area of the Roman Empire and frontier areas; 4 the role played by intellectual groups, clerical and lay, in this process; 5 the social, cultural and religious variety of audiences; 6 the impact of difference in genre on the engagement with forms of knowledge. Late Antiquity in Contemporary Debate Rita Lizzi Testa, 2017-03-07 Late Antiquity, once known only as the period of protracted decline in the ancient world, has now become a major research area. In recent years, a wide-ranging historiographic debate on Late Antiquity has also begun. Replacing Gibbon's categories of decline and decadence with those of continuity and transformation has not only brought to the fore the concept of the Late Roman period but has made the alleged hiatus between the Roman, Byzantine and Mediaeval ages less important while also driving to the margins the question of the end of the Roman Empire. This has broadened the scope of research on Late Antiquity enormously and made the issue of periodization of crucial significance. The resulting debate has escaped the confines of Europe and now embraces almost all historiographic cultures around the world. This book sheds new light on this debate, collecting papers given at the 22nd International Congress of Historical Sciences (CISH/ICHS) in Jinan, China. They recall key moments of the discovery of the world of Late Antiquity and show how it is possible to reach a definition of an age, analysing different sectors of history using disparate sources and with the guidance of very varied interpretative models. The Life of Mashtots' by his Disciple

Koriwn Abraham Terian, 2022-10-31 The Life of Mashtots is mostly praise for the inventor of the Armenian alphabet, the only inventor of an ancient alphabet known by name and progenitor of Armenian literacy that began with the translation of the Bible. Written three years after his death by an early disciple named Koriwn, it narrates the master's endeavors in search for letters, the establishment of schools and the ensuing literary activity that yielded countless translations of religious texts known in the Early Church of the East. As an encomium from Late Antiquity, The Life of Mashtots exhibits all the literary features of the genre to which it belongs, delineated through rhetorical analysis by Abraham Terian, who comments on the entire document almost phrase by phrase. Translated from the latest Armenian edition of the text (2003), this edition of The Life of Mashtots includes a facing English translation and commentary. The extraordinary narrative parades historical characters
