HCL EC2™ Technology “ Best Usage ” Guidelines

Do's

- ✓ Before first time use of HCL EC2™, user is advised to read the HCL EC2™ readme file & help file
- ✓ HCL EC2™ will take its first snapshot when the user turns on his computer; if the computer is pre-installed with HCL EC2 from HCL plant (This snap-shot will be the image of the HDD as shipped from HCL plant). Users are advised to take snapshot once all user software's and applications have been installed
- ✓ HCL EC2™ Standard can have only one snapshot at a time. Users are strongly advised to take periodic snapshot of the system to save all the current data
- ✓ HCL EC2™ Standard will not work if there is a physical damage to the HDD / system, Therefore users are strongly advised to take periodic backup of data in an external media
- ✓ HCL EC2™ is not an alternate to an Anti-virus. It is strongly advised to scan your system regularly with the most recent Anti-virus software before taking a snapshot of your computer. Update your Antivirus software's virus definition file regularly
- ✓ If you forget your password, you must contact HCL support Engineer. Refer HCL EC2™ help file and follow the procedure to send the string to the Engineer for retrieving your lost password
- ✓ To secure and manage your snapshot, it is recommended to keep a security password in the EC2 console. Refer HCL EC2™ help file for more details
- ✓ In the event you wish to uninstall EC2 from your system, it is strongly advised to take the entire system data & files backup on to a network remote location or an external media. This is to prevent any data loss in case you have not been able to uninstall HCL EC2™ correctly
- ✓ HCL EC2™ needs to be Uninstalled before proceeding with any operations like - formatting / partition change of HDD or OS repair
- ✓ It is must to install HCL EC2™ on all the Operating System if you are using multi OS in your system. Read the HCL EC2™ help file for installing in a multi-boot environment
- ✓ During HCL EC2™ installation (if it has been purchased as a stand alone package), care should be taken while changing the location of the Temporary Files to a new location under the optimize your system performance page, after change, EC2 won't monitor the new location if the location is in a drive which is not protected by EC2
- ✓ In case HCL EC2™ has been purchased as a stand alone software package, then before installation, it is necessary to "turn off" or "disable" any existing Recovery Tool (including MS Windows Recovery Tool) or any encryption tool. It is also suggested to defragment the system HDD and uncompress the HDD before proceeding for installation
