Australian Crime Fiction Stephen Knight,2018-07-10 Australian crime fiction has grown from the country s origins as an 18th century English prison colony Early stories focused on escaped convicts becoming heroic bush rangers or how the system mistreated those who were wrongfully convicted Later came thrillers about wealthy free settlers and lawless gold seekers and urban crime fiction including Fergus Hume s 1887 international best seller The Mystery of a Hansom Cab set in Melbourne The 1980s saw a surge of private eye thrillers popular in a society skeptical of police Twenty first century authors have focused on policemen and increasingly policewomen and finally indigenous crime narratives The author explores in detail this rich but little known national subgenre Brodie's Notes on Marele Day's The Life and Crimes of Harry Lavender Day,Phil Stabback,1997 The Life and Crimes of Harry Lavender Richard

McRoberts,2002-10 Crime Fiction and National Identities in the Global Age Julie H. Kim,2020-05-25 To read a crime novel today largely simulates the exercise of reading newspapers or watching the news The speed and frequency with which today s bestselling works of crime fiction are produced allow them to mirror and dissect nearly contemporaneous socio political events and conflicts This collection examines this phenomenon and offers original critical essays on how national identity appears in international crime fiction in the age of populism and globalization These essays address topics such as the array of competing nationalisms in Europe Indian secularism versus Hindu communalism the populist rhetoric tinged with misogyny or homophobia in the United States racial religious or ethnic others who are sidelined in political appeals to dominant native voices and the increasing economic chasm between a rich and poor More broadly these essays inquire into themes such as how national identity and various conceptions of masculinity are woven together how dominant native cultures interact with migrant and colonized cultures to explore insider outsider paradigms and identity politics and how generic and cultural boundaries are repeatedly crossed in postcolonial detective fiction

APAIS 1991: Australian public affairs information service, Postcolonial Postmortems, 2006-01-01 Recent crime fiction increasingly transcends national boundaries with investigators operating across countries and continents Frequently the detective is a migrant or comes from a transcultural background To solve the crime the investigator is called upon to decipher the meanings hidden in clues and testimonies that require transcultural forms of understanding For the reader the investigation discloses new interpretive methods and processes of social investigation often challenging facile interpretations of the postcolonial world order Under the rubric postcolonial postmortems this collection of essays seeks to explore the tropes issues and themes that characterise this emergent form of crime fiction But what does the postcolonial bring to the genre apart from the well known and valid discourses of resistance subversion and ethnicity And why postmortems A dissection and medical examination of a body to determine the cause of death the postmortem of the postcolonial not only alludes to the investigation of the victim's remains but also to the body of the individual text and its contexts This collection interrogates literary concepts of postcoloniality and crime from transcultural perspectives in the attempt to offer new critical impulses to the study of crime fiction and postcolonial literatures International scholars offer insights into the postcolonial postmortems of a wide range of texts by authors from Africa South Asia the Asian and African Diaspora and Australia including Robert G Barrett Unity Dow Wessel Ebersohn Romesh Gunesekera Kazuo Ishiguro Sujata Massey Alexander McCall Smith and Michael Ondaatje
