Due Date: Day 7 [Individual] forum

Create a 15- to 20-slide multimedia PowerPoint® presentation that storyboards an episode of a medical drama or documentary. The episode can be of your own creation or can be an extension of an existing show. This presentation should include detailed speaker's notes with a summary or script that should occur in each scene. Include images, video, or audio in your presentation. Keep any audio and/or video files shorter than one minute each. Use at least 45 medical words with at least three words from each chapter.

Post a draft of the presentation to the Main forum on Day 2.

Evaluate two students' presentations, paying special attention to the usage of medical language.

Critically review presentations and ask for clarification or more detail.

Provide positive and constructive feedback.

Evaluations should be completed by Day 4.

Consider suggestions offered for your presentation and make necessary revisions.

Post the final presentation as a Microsoft® PowerPoint® attachment

Communicating Clearly about Science and Medicine Mr John Clare, 2012-10-01 Scientific communication is challenging conclusions are rarely clear cut making communicating statistical risk and probability tough especially to non statisticians and non scientists such as journalists In this book John Clare illustrates how to communicate clearly the risks and benefits contained in a complex data set and balance the hope and the hype He explains how to avoid the miracle cure or killer drug headlines which are so common and teaches you how to combine the accuracy of peer to peer reviewed science with the narrative skills of journalism

The Handbook of Archival Practice Patricia C. Franks, 2021-09-12 To meet the demands of archivists increasingly tasked with the responsibility for hybrid collections this indispensable guide covers contemporary archival practice for managing analog and digital materials in a single publication Terms describing activities central to the archival process such as appraisal acquisition arrangement description storage access and preservation are included In addition responsibilities traditionally considered outside the purview of the archivist but currently impacting professional activities such as cybersecurity digital forensics digital curation distributed systems e.g. cloud computing and distributed trust systems

e.g. blockchain are also covered. The Handbook is divided into ten sections: current environment, records creation and recordkeeping systems, appraisal and acquisition, arrangement and description, storage and preservation, digital preservation, user services, community outreach and advocacy, risk management, security and privacy, and management and leadership. Some terms touch on more than one category, which made sorting a challenge. Readers are encouraged to consult both the table of contents and the index as a topic may be addressed in more than one entry. A total of 111 entries by 105 authors are defined and described in The Handbook. The majority, 79, of the contributors were from the US; 12 from Canada; 7 from the United Kingdom; 3 from Australia; 1 each from Germany, Jamaica, New Zealand, and the Russian Federation. Because archival practice differs among practitioners in different countries, this work represents an amalgamation. The Handbook was written primarily for archival practitioners who wish to access desired information at the point of need. However, it can also serve as a valuable resource for students pursuing careers in the archival profession and information professionals engaged in related fields.

Instructional Methods for Public Safety William McClincy, 2010-07-19. Quality education starts and ends with competent and knowledgeable instruction. Today's students demand that educational programs be informative and challenging. With accreditation of EMS programs on the horizon and the mandate that instructors develop their own teaching materials, not simply use canned materials off the shelf, EMS instructors need clear, detailed direction on course design and tools to enhance their courses. Instructional Methods for Public Safety offers a broad spectrum view of the latest educational trends and cutting edge information on emergency services instruction. Based on the current National Guidelines for Educating EMS Instructors by National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) and encompassing the recommendations of the EMS Education Standards, this resource offers new and experienced instructors concise guidance on the development of high quality interactive educational and assessment tools. Synopsis of teaching approaches geared to the adult learner. Concrete advice on novel course design and development of teaching materials. Practical teaching tips on integrating state of the art technology including multimedia systems and distance learning options. Overview of legal considerations in public safety education. Guidance on the accreditation process. Bonus digital content available at www.jblearning.com. 2011. 140 pages.

Quality and Performance Improvement in Healthcare Patricia Shaw, 2003.

Courtroom Persuasion 2d Russ M. Herman, 2009. Rev. ed. of Courtroom Persuasion R. M. Herman 1997.

Applied Human Factors in Medical Device Design Mary Beth Privitera, 2019-06-15. Applied Human Factors in Medical Device Design describes the contents of a human factors toolbox with in-depth descriptions of both empirical and analytical methodologies. The book begins with an overview of the design control process integrating human factors as directed by AAMI TIR 59 and experienced practice. It then explains each method, describing why each method is important, its potential impact when it's ideal to use, and related challenges. Also discussed are other barriers such as communication breakdowns between users and design teams. This book is an excellent reference for professionals working in human factors design, engineering, marketing, and regulation.

Focuses on meeting agency requirements as it pertains to the application of human factors in the medical device development process in both the US and the European Union EU Explains technology development and the application of human factors throughout the development process Covers FDA and MHRA regulations Includes case examples with each method
