Can Accountants Save the Planet?: Rethinking Capitalism for the Twenty-First Century Jane

Gleeson-White, 2015-02-25 A timely and fascinating account of the revolution going on in the world of finance from the acclaimed author of Double Entry This is the story of a twenty first century revolution being led by the most unlikely of rebels accountants Only the second revolution in accounting since double entry bookkeeping began it is of seismic proportions driven by the 2008 financial crash and our ongoing environmental crisis The changes it will wreak are profound and far reaching and not only will transform the way the world does business but also will alter the nature of capitalism While the wealth of nations and corporations has been vital to the global economy increasingly the world is coming to realize that such endless growth is limited by the earth's resources and comes at a huge price to the planet and to human well being It simply cannot be sustained This revolution demands that we go beyond merely accounting for traditional financial and industrial capital and take account of the benefits and detriments to the natural world and society It urges us to include four new categories of wealth intellectual such as intellectual property human skills productivity and health social and relationship shared norms and values and natural environment Making them part of our financial statements and GDP figures may be the only way to address the many calamities we face Just two years ago this revolution seemed idealistic and unlikely Today it is quickly unfolding In 2012 the sea change year two key initiatives took root an international movement to transform how corporate accounting is calculated and the rise of incorporating the effects on the environment to the accounting of national and global economies Six Capitals tells the story of this coming new age in capitalism evaluating its promise and the disaster that lies ahead if it is not implemented Policy Making in Britain Peter Dorey, 2014-04-22

up a fascinating world where we can develop our uniquely human mathematical talents Just a few of the fascinating subjects covered in MATHEMATICAL INTELLIGENCE include Humans are endowed with a natural sense of numbers that is based on approximation rather than precise calculation Our in built estimation skills complement the precision of computers Interpreting the real world depends on both What sets humans apart from other animals is language and abstraction We have an extraordinary ability to create powerful representations of knowledge more diverse than the binary language of computers Mathematics confers the most robust logical framework for establishing permanent truths Reasoning shields us from the dubious claims of pure pattern recognition systems All mathematical truths are derived from a starting set of assumptions or axioms Unlike computers humans have the freedom to break free of convention and examine the logical consequences of our choices Mathematics rewards our imagination with fascinating and on occasion applicable concepts that originate from breaking the rules Computers can be tasked to solve a range of problems but which problems are worth the effort Questioning is as vital to our repertoire of thinking skills as problem solving itself
