Consumer Law & Protection: In the age of AI Dr. Anjali Dixit, 2024-10-13 In an era defined by rapid technological advancements the interplay between consumer rights and artificial intelligence AI has never been more critical The digital landscape while offering unprecedented convenience and innovation also presents unique challenges to consumer protection that must be addressed with urgency and foresight This book Consumer Law Protection In the Age of AI aims to illuminate these complexities and provide a comprehensive framework for understanding consumer rights in this new age Our journey begins with an exploration of the international context and benchmarks for consumer protection grounding our discussions in global practices and principles that transcend borders By recognizing consumer rights as a special category of human rights we highlight the intrinsic value of these rights in the broader spectrum of social justice Understanding the historical evolution of consumer protection in India serves as a crucial backdrop illustrating how cultural economic and legal contexts shape consumer rights We then delve into the specifics of consumer protection legislation focusing on the Consumer Protection Act and its implications for various sectors As we transition into the digital realm the chapters on e commerce e banking and e pharmacy expose the vulnerabilities and opportunities that come with online transactions emphasizing the necessity of robust protections in these rapidly growing industries The intersection of medical healthcare and consumer rights is particularly poignant as consumers navigate complex systems where the stakes are often life and death A significant portion of our discourse is dedicated to the impact of AI on consumer protection With algorithms influencing choices personalized marketing strategies and automated customer service we must critically assess how AI technologies can both enhance and undermine consumer rights Lastly our exploration of miscellaneous subjects related to consumer rights rounds out the discussion providing insights into important judgments that shape the landscape of consumer law This book is intended for legal scholars practitioners policymakers and consumers alike offering a nuanced understanding of the challenges and opportunities presented by AI in the realm of consumer protection It is our hope that by examining these interconnected themes we can contribute to a more informed and equitable future for consumers in the age of technology As we embark on this exploration we invite you to reflect on the evolving nature of consumer rights and the collective responsibility we share in safeguarding these essential protections Welcome to the dialogue let us navigate the complexities of consumer law together

The Regulation of Genetically Modified Organisms Luc Bodiguel, Michael Cardwell, 2010 The regulation of genetically modified organisms GMOs continues to generate controversy On the one hand they are actively promoted by the biotechnology industry as vital to ensuring food security Yet on the other hand consumer resistance persists not least in the European Union and such lack of confidence extends not just to GM food itself but also to the regulatory regime where legal issues are inextricably linked with economics and politics This edited collection provides a novel contribution to the ongoing debate recognizing that the legislative environment is complicated by forces as varied as national public opinion and world trade commitments The book is divided into four parts The first of these addresses the influence in this context of both civil society and economic imperatives The second part is directed more specifically to the measures that have been implemented in the European Union considering multi level governance wider aspects of food law co existence with conventional and organic crops and environmental liability The third part is comparative in focus with chapters covering the diverse regimes implemented in Africa Australia North America and South America The book concludes with chapters on world trade and international considerations including analysis of the Biotech case Research Handbook on

The third edition includes many new developments at the EU level, including the ill-fated proposal for a Common European Sales Law and further developments linked to the digital single market and in national laws, in particular the major reform of the French Code civil in 2016 and 2018, the UK's Consumer Rights Act 2015 and new cases.
