

Question 4
Accounting: High Scores

The following table shows the results of a survey conducted by the National Accounting Society.

The survey asked accountants to rate the quality of their work on a scale of 1 (lowest) to 5 (highest). The results are shown in the table below.

Location	Accountants Employed	Accountants Unemployed	Quality of Work Rating (1-5)
North	100	100	4.2
South	100	100	4.1
West	100	100	4.3
Midwest	100	100	4.0
Southwest	100	100	4.2
Northwest	100	100	4.1
East	100	100	4.2
West	100	100	4.3
Midwest	100	100	4.0
Southwest	100	100	4.2
Northwest	100	100	4.1
East	100	100	4.2

Source: National Accounting Society. The survey was conducted by the National Accounting Society, a non-profit organization that provides accounting education and research. The survey results are based on a random sample of accountants who responded to the survey.

a) The survey found that the quality of work was highest in the West and lowest in the Midwest. This suggests that the quality of work is higher in the West than in the Midwest. This could be due to a number of factors, including the higher cost of living in the West, the higher level of education in the West, and the higher level of experience in the West.

b) The survey also found that the quality of work was highest in the South and lowest in the North. This suggests that the quality of work is higher in the South than in the North. This could be due to a number of factors, including the higher cost of living in the South, the higher level of education in the South, and the higher level of experience in the South.

c) The survey also found that the quality of work was highest in the Southwest and lowest in the Northwest. This suggests that the quality of work is higher in the Southwest than in the Northwest. This could be due to a number of factors, including the higher cost of living in the Southwest, the higher level of education in the Southwest, and the higher level of experience in the Southwest.

d) The survey also found that the quality of work was highest in the East and lowest in the West. This suggests that the quality of work is higher in the East than in the West. This could be due to a number of factors, including the higher cost of living in the East, the higher level of education in the East, and the higher level of experience in the East.

e) The survey also found that the quality of work was highest in the Midwest and lowest in the South. This suggests that the quality of work is higher in the Midwest than in the South. This could be due to a number of factors, including the higher cost of living in the Midwest, the higher level of education in the Midwest, and the higher level of experience in the Midwest.

The Effective Museum John W. Jacobsen, 2022-09-14
The Effective Museum: Rethinking Museum Practices to Increase Impact features practical suggestions for how to be more successful at achieving a museum's intentional purposes. These practical suggestions can help you revise your museum's conceptual framework, revitalize your audiences and supporters, reorganize your museum, reinvest in your resources (staff, collections, facilities, etc.), reposition your programming, and restore management basics. This book seeks to help you rethink these key museum practices through a diversity of suggestions, not a single system. However, the suggestions share definitions and frameworks and a unifying voice and structure. While any museum can adopt whichever suggestions are appropriate, the last chapter helps you explore how the suggestions might be mutually reinforcing. Each chapter includes a generalized statement of a problem and the need for new ideas, b) new suggestions implementable in many museums, c) the likely resistance, e) a
