Digital Media Ecologies Sy Taffel, 2019-10-31 Our digital world is often described using terms such as immateriality and virtuality. The discourse of cloud computing is the latest in a long line of nebulous dematerialising tropes which have come to dominate how we think about information and communication technologies. Digital Media Ecologies argues that such rhetoric is highly misleading and that engaging with the key cultural, agential, ethical and political impacts of contemporary media requires that we do not just engage with the surface level of content encountered by the end users of digital media but that we must additionally consider the affordances of software and hardware. Whilst numerous existing approaches explore content, software and hardware individually, Digital Media Ecologies provides a critical intervention by insisting that addressing contemporary technoculture requires a synthetic approach that traverses these three registers. Digital Media Ecologies re-envisions the methodological approach of media ecology to go beyond the metaphor of a symbolic information environment that exists alongside a material world of tantalum, turtles and tornados. It illustrates the social, cultural, political and environmental impacts of contemporary media assemblages through examples that include mining, conflict, sustaining minerals, climate change, blogging, iOS jailbreaking and the ecological footprint of contemporary computing infrastructures. Alongside foregrounding the deleterious social and environmental impacts of digital technologies, the book considers numerous ways that these issues are being tackled by a heterogeneous array of activists, academics, hackers, scientists and citizens using the same technological assemblages that ostensibly cause these problems.

Research Handbook of Innovation for a Circular Economy Jakobsen, Siri, Lauvås, Thomas, Quatraro, Francesco, Rasmussen, Einar, Steinmo, Marianne, 2021-12-09 The transition to a circular economy requires innovation at all levels of society. This insightful Research Handbook is the first comprehensive edited work examining how innovation can contribute to a more circular economy.

The Care of Things Jerome Denis, David Pontille, 2025-01-22 What does a coffee machine, a car, road signs, a smartphone, a cathedral, a work of art, a satellite, a bicycle, a washing machine, a bridge, a watch, a computer, the body of a prominent politician and a tractor have in common? Pretty much nothing except for the fact that no matter how small, large, important or insignificant something is, it rarely survives without being cared for. Every object eventually experiences wear and tear; it deteriorates, stops working or breaks down. But are we giving the care of things the recognition it deserves? A counterpoint to our modern obsession with innovation but less striking than the one-off act of restoration, the delicate act of making things last rarely attracts our attention. This book disrupts our dominant narratives by putting those individuals skilled in the art of maintenance front and centre. Jérôme Denis and David Pontille shine a spotlight on the subtle aspects of caring for things, tracing the stories of those involved and with them the ethical challenges raised and political lessons learned. These people demonstrate a sensitivity and attentiveness to fragility; they encourage us to cultivate a material diplomacy in which wear is accepted and our relation to things becomes a matter of negotiation and compromise, a far cry from the frenetic rhythm of planned obsolescence inherent in hyper consumerism Maintenance demarcates the contours of a world in which we have relinquished the human longing for unlimited power and technological autonomy a world where our attachment to things is more profound than we ever imagined

Pirate Care Valeria Graziano, Marcell Mars, Tomislav Medak, 2025-01-20 A most nourishing and encouraging book McKenzie Wark author of A Hacker Manifesto and Capital is Dead In many places around the world the freedom to simply care for one another is under attack by the powerful and acts of solidarity are being made illegal In a moment of struggle defined by the rollback of the social safety net the criminalization of migration and the right wing clampdown on bodily autonomy radical networks of care are fighting back From volunteer rescue boats in the Mediterranean to underground labs preparing gender affirming hormones people are reclaiming the means to care for one another in defiance of a system that devalues and exploits the labor of care Against atomized despair Pirate Care shows that fighting back isn't only about legal and legislative changes but also about organizing direct action and disobedient care Valeria Graziano is a cultural theorist and organizer researching militant practices of work refusal and repair She co founded the Carrotworkers Collective and Micropolitics Research Group Marcell Mars is an advanced internet user Tomislav Medak is a commons and disability activist and an independent researcher with interests in technologies and environmental crisis Mars and Medak are founding members of Multimedia Institute Mama and custodians of the Memory of the World shadow library The authors are the convenors of the Pirate Care project
