discrimination is a sad reality that numerous people face in different parts of their lives. As a Pakistani hijab Muslim, I have by and by experienced examples of uncalled for treatment that significantly affect my life. During my time in high school, I was the victim of a troubling act of discrimination. On a typical school day, a fellow student made a torrent of disparaging remarks about me based solely on my appearance as a hijab Muslim, fueling misconceptions and prejudices. The weight of injustice began to wear me down, despite my best efforts to ignore the taunts, affecting my confidence and well-being.

My emotional health was seriously harmed as a result of the unfair treatment I received. I felt a variety of negative emotions, including sadness, anger, and frustration. I wondered why I was being judged solely on the basis of my cultural and religious choices because I felt alone and misunderstood. The incident made me question my own identity and eroded my sense of self-worth. I realized how urgent it was to face this challenge head-on. In the midst of misery, looking for help from understanding people can give comfort and strength. I reached out to my mentors, friends, and family, who had always been there for me. Their immovable support and faith in my capacities assisted me with recapturing certainty. I was reassured by their perspective that my character and achievements were more important than the discriminatory actions of others.

education has forever been an amazing asset for destroying stereotypes and advancing inclusivity. Because of the segregation I confronted, I committed myself to teaching others about Islam and dissipating misguided judgments related with the hijab. Through open and deferential conversations, I drew in with my schoolmates, educators, and local area individuals, offering bits of knowledge into my confidence, culture, and individual encounters. By encouraging a climate of common getting it, I meant to make a more comprehensive and tolerating environment. As opposed to allowing discrimination to characterize me adversely, I decided to channel my encounters into self-improvement and inspiration. I came to the realization that the difficulties I faced could be used to advance my objectives. I made it a point to work hard in school and pursue my interest in science and engineering. I wanted to break the glass ceiling of low expectations and challenge the stereotypes of Muslim women by concentrating on my studies and setting high standards for myself.

I became actively involved in initiatives and organizations that promoted diversity, inclusion, and social justice because I was aware of the power of collective action. By drawing in with similar people, I tracked down strength in fortitude and a common perspective. We collaborated to create dialogues, cultural events, and awareness campaigns to combat discrimination and promote understanding. Through our efforts, we intended to make a more open minded and amicable society, one where no individual would confront the brunt of unreasonable treatment.

Wilson, 2024-04-05. This book is the first monograph to critically evaluate the work of the literary scholar Ren Girard from the perspectives of Law and Literature and Law and Film Studies two of the most multidisciplinary branches of critical legal theory. The central thesis is that Girard's theory of the scapegoat mechanism provides a wholly new and original means of re conceptualizing the nature of judicial modernity which is the belief that modern Law constitutes an internally coherent and exclusively secular form of rationality. The book argues that it is the archaic scapegoat mechanism the reconciliation of the community through the direction of unified violence against a single victim that actually works best in explaining all of the outstanding issues of Law and Literature in both of its sub forms law as literature the analysis of legal language and practice exemplified by literacy texts and law in literature the exploration of issues in legal theory through the fictitious form of the novel. The book will provide readers with i a useful introduction to the most important elements of the work of Ren Girard ii a greater awareness of the hidden nature of legal culture and reasoning within a post secular age and iii a new understanding of the subversive or enlightening nature of some of the most iconic works on Law in both Literature and Cinema media which by their nature allow for the expression of truths repressed by formal legal discourse.
