Places of Invention Arthur P. Molella, Anna Karvellas, 2015-06-30. The companion book to an upcoming museum exhibition of the same name, Places of Invention seeks to answer timely questions about the nature of invention and innovation. What is it about some places that sparks invention and innovation? Is it simply being at the right place at the right time, or is it more than that? How does place, whether physical, social, or cultural, support, constrain, and shape innovation? Why does invention flourish in one spot but struggle in another, even very similar location? In short, why there? Why then? Places of Invention frames current and historic conversation on the relationship between place and creativity, citing extensive scholarship in the area and two decades of investigation and study from the National Museum of American History's Lemelson Center for the Study of Invention and Innovation. The book is built around six place case studies: Hartford, CT (late 1800s); Hollywood, CA (1930s); Medical Alley, MN (1950s); Bronx, NY (1970s); Silicon Valley, CA (1970s-1980s); and Fort Collins, CO (2010s). Interspersed with these case studies are dispatches from three learning labs detailing Smithsonian Affiliate museums' work using Places of Invention as a model for documenting local invention and innovation. Written by exhibition curators, each part of the book focuses on the central thesis that invention is everywhere and fueled by unique combinations of creative people, ready resources, and inspiring surroundings. Like the locations it explores, Places of Invention shows how the history of invention can be a transformative lens for understanding local history and cultivating creativity on scales of place ranging from the personal to the national and beyond.

Legal Documents as Sources for the History of Muslim Societies, 2017-06-06. This volume is a tribute to the work of legal and social historian and Arabist Rudolph Peters, University of Amsterdam. Presenting case studies from different periods and areas of the Muslim world, the book examines the use of legal documents for the study of the history of Muslim societies. From examinations of the conceptual status of legal documents to comparative studies of the development of legal formulae and the socio-economic or political historical information documents contain, the aim is to approach legal documents as specialised texts belonging to a specific social domain while simultaneously connecting them to other historical sources. It discusses the daily functioning of legal institutions, the reflections of regime changes on legal documentation, daily life, and the materiality of legal documents. Contributors are Maaïke van Berkel, Maurits H. van den Boogert, L. on Buskens, Khaled Fahmy, Aharon Layish, Sergio Carro, Martijn Brinkley, Messick Toru, Miura Christian, M. Iler, Petra M. Sijpesteijn, Mathieu Tillier, and Amalia Zomeño.

History and Material Culture Karen Harvey, 2017-09-18. Sources are the raw material of History, but whereas the written word has traditionally been seen as the principal source, historians now recognize the value of sources beyond text. In this new edition of History and Material Culture, contributors consider a range of objects from an eighteenth-century bed curtain to a twenty-first-century shopping trolley, which can help historians develop new interpretations and new knowledge about the past. Containing two new chapters on healing objects in East Africa and the shopping trolley in the social world, this book examines a variety of material sources from around the globe and across centuries to assess how such sources can be used to study the distant and the recent past. In a revised introduction, Karen Harvey discusses some of the principal issues raised when historians use material culture, particularly in the context of the material turn, and suggests some initial steps for those unfamiliar with these kinds of sources. While the sources are discussed from interdisciplinary perspectives, the emphasis of the book is on what historians stand to gain from using material culture, as well as what historians have to offer the broader study of material culture. Clearly written and accessible, this book is the ideal introduction to the opportunities and challenges of researching material culture and is essential reading for all students of historical theory and method.

Modernist Fraud Leonard Diepeveen, 2019-02-05. Focusing on literature and visual art in the years 1910-1935, Modernist Fraud begins with the omnipresent accusations that modernism was not art at all but rather an effort to pass off patently absurd works as great art. These assertions, common in the time's journalism, are used to understand the aesthetic and context which spawned them and to look at what followed in their wake. Fraud discourse ventured into the aesthetic theory of the time to ideas of artistic sincerity, formalism, and the intentional fallacy. In doing so, it profoundly shaped the modern canon and its justifying principles. Modernist Fraud explores a wide range of materials. It draws on reviews and newspaper accounts of art scandals such as the 1913 Armory Show, the 1910 and 1912 Postimpressionist shows, and Tender Buttons; to daily syndicated columns, to parodies and doggerel, to actual hoaxes such as Spectra and Disumbrationism; to the literary criticism of Edith Sitwell; to the trial of Brancusi's Bird in Space; and to the contents of the magazine Blind Man, including a defense of Duchamp's Fountain, a poem by Bill Brown, and the works of and an interview with the bafflingly unstable painter Louis Eilshemius. In turning to these materials, the book reevaluates how modernism interacted with the public and describes how a new aesthetic begins, not as a triumphant explosion that initiates irrevocable changes but as an uncertain muddling and struggle with ideology.

The Making of Kingdoms Tania Marguerite Dickinson, David Griffiths, 1999. Rather than debate location and specifics, this collection concentrates on the interconnections and resonances of kingdoms. Papers were drawn from the 47th Sachsensymposium, York, 1996, and address areas around the North Sea and Baltic. This volume examines general models and research agenda derived from archaeology and history: the search for kingdoms on the ground, control and mobilisation of resources through economic, social, and territorial organisations, and identifying kingdoms of the mind. Though many of the papers are thematic, regional interests are still well represented in pieces ranging from Frisia, Heidinga, and Gerrets to Middle Anglia, Hines, and Denmark, Axboe.

Luxury and Legitimation Allison Karmel Thomason, 2017-03-02. Utilizing a variety of ancient sources, including cuneiform texts, images, and archaeological finds, Luxury and Legitimation explores how the collecting of luxury objects contributed to the formation of royal identity in one of the world's oldest civilizations: ancient Mesopotamia, modern Iraq.

Allison Thomason makes a significant and timely contribution to the subjects of collecting and material culture studies by bringing a new understanding to the political cultural and social institutions of an important pre Classical non Western civilization Chambers's Encyclopædia ,1888
