Self-directed learning research: An imperative for transforming the educational landscape Elsa Mentz, Thabisile Buthelezi, Josef de Beer, Adri du Toit, Aubrey Golightly, Sarah Gravett, Marietjie Havenga, Anita Lubbe, Judah P. Makonye, Neal Petersen, Paulinah Phahamane, Jessica Pool, H.J. (Hennie) Steyn, Johannes (Hannes) L. van der Walt, Charl Wolhuter, 2016-12-31 This book will benefit specialists in the field of the education sciences It represents significant progress in knowledge production Self directed learning has become increasingly important not only for education in South Africa but also for education sciences in the international arena This is a result of the changing education landscape caused by the demands of the 21st century as well as the rapid change in knowledge production Learners should be equipped with skills to take responsibility for their own learning New innovative strategies should be incorporated into teaching and learning in order to meet the changing demands in education Traditional teacher centred practices are still the norm in most South African schools and higher education institutions and do not adequately prepare students for lifelong learning in the 21st century The content focuses on the theory behind self directed learning explores strategies such as cooperative learning problem-based learning case-based teaching and large group teaching that enhance self-directed learning and the use of blended learning in a self-directed learning environment. The book demonstrates how self-directed learning can be enhanced in mathematics, computer science and life science education and through the use of student tutors for geography. Digital technology could for example also be used in innovative ways for education in isiZulu folk poetry. The findings are based on original empirical research and a sound theoretical conceptual framework. In an environment of rapidly changing knowledge production, this book responds to the challenge of how to equip learners with the necessary skills to take responsibility for their own learning. The book presents innovative teaching and learning strategies for meeting the changing demands in education. Group activities, the responsibilities of learners and the obstacles that hinder their learning are analysed and the way in which educators can support them is discussed. Educational values such as mutual trust are discussed and self-directed assessment is explored. This is a timely collective work authored by experts who subscribe to the approach of self-directed learning. Educators should discover new teaching and learning strategies and value the integration of self-directed learning in the classroom. Extended Curriculum Programmes Tennyson

Mgutshini, 2022-04-30. The introduction of ECPs in South African Universities is seen by many as South Africa's key strategy for addressing the problem of poor patterns of student success and has its basis on the uncontested acceptance that an extended study duration may be necessary to bring some categories of learners to a level of parity with the readiness expectations of their course of study. Even so, this transformative strategic imperative has been plagued by a range of challenges that include poor systems readiness, poor selection mechanisms in the identification of ECP students, poor numeracy and literacy amongst students and indifferent teacher involvement in ECPs. This volume offers a rare insight into many of the above recognised challenges and in so doing provides critical matter for thought for educators within the higher education sector. The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages Lutz Marten, Ellen Hurst-Harosh, Nancy C. Kula, Jochen Zeller, 2025-08-19. This volume brings together leading scholars from Africa, Europe, the Americas and beyond to provide a detailed account of the languages of the Bantu family which cover an area from Cameroon and Kenya in the north to South Africa in the south. The Bantu family is part of the Niger-Congo phylum and one of the world's biggest language groups comprising around 500 languages. The family includes major languages with large numbers of speakers such as Zulu, Kinyarwanda and Swahili, the most widely spoken and taught African language as well as many community languages and several endangered languages. Bantu languages feature prominently in the complex and multilingual language ecologies that are characteristic of the linguistic situation in much of Africa and they provide rich evidence for the study of theoretical and comparative linguistics, language contact and language change. They play an important role in education, commerce, culture and artistic expression in the media and public discourse in governance and social justice and are central to the future of the continent and the well-being of its communities. The first part of The Oxford Guide to the Bantu Languages provides background and context with chapters exploring the history of research in the field language and prehistory in Bantu speaking Africa and typology and variation Chapters in the second part offer broad comparative overviews of Bantu phonology morphology syntax semantics and pragmatics socio and applied linguistics before Parts III VII cover more specific topics in Bantu linguistics across a variety of subfields ranging from structural issues such as the augment and melodic tone to historical and sociolinguistic topics such as Bantu languages in the diaspora and language policy and standardization The chapters in the final part offer individual structural overviews of a range of languages from across the Bantu speaking area The book will be an essential resource for students and researchers specializing in the Bantu languages and for typologists and comparative linguists more broadly

The Ambiguity of English as a Lingua Franca Stephanie Rudwick,2021-08-29 Grounded in ethnography this monograph explores the ambiguity of English as a lingua franca by focusing on identity politics of language and race in contemporary South Africa The book adopts a multidisciplinary approach which highlights how ways of speaking English constructs identities in a multilingual context Focusing primarily on isiZulu and Afrikaans speakers it raises critical questions around power and ideology The study draws from literature on English as a lingua franca raciolinguistics and the cultural politics of English and dialogues between these fields It challenges long held concepts underpinning existing research from the global North by highlighting how they do not transfer and apply to identity politics of language in South

Africa It sketches out how these struggles for belonging are reflected in marginalisation and empowerment and a vast range of local global and glocal identity trajectories Ultimately it offers a first lens through which global scholarship on English as a lingua franca can be decolonised in terms of disciplinary limitations geopolitical orientations and a focus on the politics of race that characterize the use of English as a lingua franca all over the world This book will be of interest to students and researchers in linguistic anthropology sociolinguistics World Englishes ELF and African studies The Drama of South Africa Loren Kruger, 2005-11 Chronicles the development of dramatic writing and performance from the time South Africa was established to post apartheid Investigates the impact of sketches and manifestos and the oral preservation of scripts that could not be written 'N Suid-Afrikaanse Bibliografie Tot Die Jaar 1925 Sidney Mendelssohn, South African Library, 1979 In 1979 A South African bibliography to the year 1925 SABIB compiled under the auspices of the South African Library was published in four volumes by Mansell of London It was essentially a revision and continuation of Sidney Mendelssohn's South African bibliography London 1910 which recorded literature about South Africa from earliest times to 1909 regardless of place of publication For the new bibliography the period was extended to 1925 but for practical reasons the scope was limited to the geographical area south of the Limpopo and certain material for example books in African languages sheet music maps and periodicals was excluded Preface to Supplement Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts, 2007-07 Refugees and Migrants in Law and Policy Helmut Kury, Sławomir Redo, 2018-05-31 Refugees and migration are not a new story in the history of humankind but in the last few years against a backdrop of huge numbers of migrants especially from war torn countries they have again been a topic of intensive and contentious discussion in politics the media and scientific publications Two United Nations framework declarations on the sustainable development goals and on refugees and migrants adopted in 2016 have prompted the editors who have a background in international criminology to invite 60 contributors from different countries to contribute their expertise on civic education aspects of the refugee and migrant crisis in the Global North and South Comprising 35 articles this book presents an overview of the interdisciplinary issues involved in irregular migration around the world It is intended for educationists educators diplomats those working in mass media decision makers criminologists and other specialists faced with questions involving refugees and migrants as well as those interested in improving the prospects of orderly safe regular and responsible migration in the context of promoting peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development Rather than a timeline for migration policies based on now with states focusing on stopping migration now sending back migrants now or bringing in technicians or low skilled migrant workers now there should be a long term strategy for multicultural integration and economic assimilation This book prefaced by François Crépeau the United Nations Special Rapporteur on the human rights of migrants and William Lacy Swing Director General of the International Organization for Migration addresses the question of the rights and responsibilities involved in migration from the academic and practical perspectives of experts in the field of social sciences
