L860-1965 United States. Bureau of the Census, 1966      Coast Lines Mark Monmonier, 2008-09-15 In the next century sea levels are predicted to rise at unprecedented rates causing flooding around the world from the islands of Malaysia and the canals of Venice to the coasts of Florida and California These rising water levels pose serious challenges to all aspects of coastal existence chiefly economic residential and environmental as well as to the cartographic definition and mapping of coasts It is this facet of coastal life that Mark Monmonier tackles in Coast Lines Setting sail on a journey across shifting landscapes cartographic technology and climate change Monmonier reveals that coastlines are as much a set of ideas assumptions and societal beliefs as they are solid black lines on maps Whether for sailing charts or property maps Monmonier shows coastlines challenge mapmakers to capture on paper a highly irregular land water boundary perturbed by tides and storms and complicated by rocks wrecks and shoals Coast Lines is peppered with captivating anecdotes about the frustrating effort to expunge fictitious islands from nautical charts the tricky measurement of a coastline s length and the contentious notions of beachfront property and public access Combing maritime history and the history of technology Coast

Lines charts the historical progression from offshore sketches to satellite images and explores the societal impact of coastal cartography on everything from global warming to homeland security Returning to the form of his celebrated Air Apparent Monmonier ably renders the topic of coastal cartography accessible to both general readers and historians of science technology and maritime studies In the post Katrina era when the map of entire regions can be redrawn by a single natural event the issues he raises are more important than ever Long Term Economic Growth United States. Bureau of the Census,1966 Technical Report Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory (U.S.),1950 The Carbon Crisis John Lincoln,2022-09-02 The Carbon Crisis By John Lincoln Presented here is the science of Carbon Dioxide how it is formed turned into limestone in the Ocean and settles on the ocean floor thousands of feet thick The percentage in the atmosphere is way too small 380 ppm compared to oxygen the inverse gas which is 200 000 ppm and will never have any appreciative effect on Global Warming Also presented is the science of the Greenland Ice Cores which have been preserved for 400 000 years and have trapped carbon dioxide and other isotopes which clearly establishes the temperature history What is found is Earth is a fast spinning ball of ice for over a hundred thousand years followed by a warming period lasting around 20 000 years The cause is cycles in the position of the earth to the sun not carbon dioxide Also politicians are exposed trying to addict us on electric cars for which they get kick backs which are very expensive the electricity is much more expensive and will not be affordable except for a small number of cars without 10 trillion dollar upgrades of the power plant infrastructure Electricity also mostly comes from the dirtiest hydrocarbon coal Politicians get rich we get poor and the environment more dirty
