* Thermodynamics → It is the field of science which deals with energy possessed by gases & vapours, its conversion in terms of heat and work and relationship with the various properties of the system.

✓ Properties → Property of a system is that quantity which belongs to the system and without which the system cannot exist. Thus pressure, volume and temperature are the fundamental properties of the system.

✓ Heat and work are not a property of the system.

* System :- Reference to any space, a matter or a group of matter within a definite boundary whether real or imaginary is defined as a system.
