Racialised Gang Rape and the Reinforcement of Dominant Order Kiran Kaur Grewal, 2016-12-08 This path breaking book provides a comparative analysis of public discourses in France and Australia on a series of highly mediated racialised gang rapes that occurred during the early to mid 2000s These rapes led to intense public debate in both countries regarding an apparent gang rape phenomenon associated with young men of Muslim background By comparing the responses to similar instances of sexual violence in two very different Western liberal democracies this book explores the relationship between constructions of national gender and ethnic identity in modern developed nations of the West The impact of immigration and cultural diversity on communities has become an issue of central concern to Western liberal democracies in recent years With greater movements of people than ever before and large temporary migrant populations who have not gone home the discourse of a crisis of national identity is a feature of many democracies in the West At the same time in a supposedly post feminist age the focus of debates around women's rights in these democracies has increasingly been the extent to which the cultural values of immigrant and ethnic minority populations are compatible with the espoused gender equality of the West Through an analysis of these rapes Kiran Kaur Grewal identifies certain commonalities as well as interesting points of divergence within the two nations public discourses In doing so she identifies the limitations of current debates and proposes alternative ways of understanding the tensions at play when trying to respond to acts of extreme sexism and violence committed by members of ethnic minority communities

Impressionism John I. Clancy, 2003 Defining an artistic era or movement is often a difficult task as one tries to group individualistic expressions and artwork under one broad brush Such is the case with impressionism which culls together the art of a multitude of painters in the mid 19th century including Monet Cézanne Renoir Degas and van Gogh Basically impressionism involved the shedding of traditional painting methods The subjects of art were taken from everyday life as opposed to the pages of mythology and history In addition each artist painted to express feelings of the moment instead of hewing to time honoured standards This description of impressionism obviously is quite broad and can apply to a wide array of styles Nonetheless it remains a very important school in the annals of art Any current or budding art aficionado should become familiar with the impressionist movement and its impact on the art world This book presents a sweeping study of this artistic period from its origins to its manifestations in the works of some of art history's most revered painters Following this overview is a substantial and selective bibliography featuring access through author title and subject indexes

Screening the Paris suburbs Philippe Met, Derek Schilling, 2018-02-06 Decades before the emergence of a French self-styled hood film around 1995 French filmmakers looked beyond the gates of the capital for inspiration and content In the Paris suburbs they found an inexhaustible reservoir of forms landscapes and social types in which to anchor their fictions from bourgeois villas and bucolic riverside cafés to post-war housing estates and postmodern new towns For the first time in English contributors to this volume address key aspects of this long film history marked by such towering figures as Jean Renoir Jacques Tati and Jean-Luc Godard Idyllic or menacing expansive or claustrophobic the suburb served divergent aesthetic and ideological programmes across the better part of a century Themes central to French cultural modernity class conflict leisure boredom and anti-authoritarianism cut across the fifteen chapters
