My Journal Writing Experience

My writing experience was helpful in a way that I never thought it would be. When I was in high school English it was a fun learning experience. I participated in class and did enough to get good grades. The only thing I ever wrote was short essays. I have not done much writing since I graduated in 2000. When I was 22, I was married and had two boys ages four and two. Back in 2005, I was currently going through a divorce. So I went to see a counselor for the very first time. On my first visit I introduced myself and gave her a brief of my past.

As I was done with my appointment she assigned me homework to start writing in a journal about whatever I choose to. When I left my appointment, I drove to the store thinking about why would she want me to write down my feelings in a journal. I figured I am not in high school any more. So I went in the store and picked up a spiral notebook, and went home. Later that day I put my children to bed and as they fell asleep the I did my homework. I got out that spiral notebook and looked at the lines on the page. I wrote the date on the piece of paper and got a blank look on my face. As I sat there and thought about what can I write about in this journal, it had come to me: I am going through a divorce, so why not right down how I feel about my divorce.

When I thought about myself that I do not like to tell other people my business so why not write down and no one could read it except me. Thinking about whether or not I should get a divorce at such a young age. So that's what exactly I did. I wrote that I was angry at my soon to be ex-husband about cheating on me with a girl at work, and how messed up it would be to break up my family. As I sat there and wrote all of these things it was soon to be three full front and back pages. I never understood why she wanted me to write down how I felt or just any simple thing. I thought of at that very moment after I wrote my first journal entry in my spiral notebook. I felt accomplished that I had finished my homework, never knowing that writing down what I feel would give me a big relief and help me come to acceptance with my current situation.

Two weeks had passed and it was time for me to go see my counselor. As I stepped into her office she greeted me and asked how I was doing. I said good, but feel a little bit of relief and no so stressed out. She had asked me if I had done my homework assignment I replied yes I did do it. Then she asked me what I thought about my homework. I began to explain to her that I did take the time to write in my journal on how angry I was about my soon to be ex- husband. That I realized that writing down how I felt about that very situation helped me cope and accept what was going on in my life.

I never thought it would be a big relief as it was. So she suggested that I should continue writing in my journal no matter even if I had got into a argument with a family member, or went out on a date and if I ever cop
