Fake News Moon Landing Was Staged English Edition:

The Roots of Fake News Brian Winston, Matthew Winston, 2020-09-01 The Roots of Fake News argues that fake news is not a problem caused by the power of the internet or by the failure of good journalism to assert itself. Rather, it is within the news's ideological foundations: professionalism, neutrality, and most especially, objectivity. That the true roots of the current crisis are to be found. Placing the concept of media objectivity in a fuller historical context, this book examines how current perceptions of a crisis in journalism actually fit within a long history of the ways news media have avoided, obscured, or simply ignored the difficulties involved in promising objectivity, let alone truth. The book examines journalism's relationships with other spheres of human endeavour: science, law, philosophy, concerned with the pursuit of objective truth, to argue that the rising tide of fake news is not an attack on the traditional ideologies which have supported journalism. Rather, it is an inevitable result of their inherent flaws and vulnerabilities. This is a valuable resource for students and scholars of journalism and history alike who are interested in understanding the historical roots and philosophical context of a fiercely contemporary issue. Fake News and the Factories That Make It Kristina Lyn Heitkamp, 2018-12-15 Once on the fringe, fake news has become mainstream. From bogus social media accounts to Russian troll factories, phony news muddies the social and political discourse and is a threat to our democracy. This high-interest book defines fake news and reveals the people behind the spread of disinformation. This text directly correlates with state journalism standards about developing media literacy. Readers will also glimpse the future of fake news and the alarming technologies used to make it, such as face morphing technology. This book will help readers navigate the messy world of fake news.

The Pandemic of Argumentation Steve Oswald, Marcin Lewiński, Sara Greco, Serena Villata, 2022-02-25 This open access book addresses communicative aspects of the current COVID-19 pandemic as well as the epidemic of misinformation from the perspective of argumentation theory. Argumentation theory is uniquely placed to understand and account for the challenges of public reason as expressed through argumentative discourse. The book thus focuses on the extent to which the forms, norms, and functions of public argumentation have changed in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic. This question is investigated along the three main research lines of the COST Action project CA 17132 European network for Argumentation and Public Policy analysis: APPLY descriptive, normative, and prescriptive. The volume offers a broad range of contributions which treat argumentative phenomena that are directly related to the changes in public discourse in the wake of the outburst of COVID-19. The volume additionally places particular emphasis on expert argumentation given i) the importance expert discourse has had over the last two years and ii) the challenges that expert argumentation has faced in the public sphere as a result of scientific uncertainty and widespread misinformation. Contributions are divided into three groups which i) examine various features and aspects of public and institutional discourse about the COVID-19 pandemic, ii) scrutinize the way health policies have been discussed, debated, attacked, and defended in the public sphere, and iii) consider a range of proposals meant to improve the quality of public discourse and public deliberation in particular in such a way that concrete proposals for argumentative literacy will be brought to light Overall this volume constitutes a timely inquiry into all things argumentative in pandemic discourse This volume is of interest to a broad readership including philosophers linguists communication and legal scholars and members of the wider public who seek to better understand the discourse surrounding communicative phenomena in times of crisis COST European Cooperation in Science and Technology is a funding organisation for research and innovation networks For more information www.cost.eu
