Lectures on Microeconomics Romans Panos, 2018-08-21 Economic concepts and techniques presented through a series of big questions models that show how to pose a question rigorously and work toward an answer This book helps readers master economic concepts and techniques by tackling fundamental economic and political questions through a series of models It is organized around a sequence of big questions among them When do markets help translate individuals uncoordinated selfish actions into outcomes that are best for all Do markets change people and if so for worse or better Translated into the language of modern economics do Marx's ideas have merit Why is there so much income inequality Or is there too little The arguments are in the theorem proof format distinguishing results derived in the context of fully specified models from educated speculation Readers will learn how to pose a question rigorously and how to work toward an answer and to appreciate that even especially the broadest and most ambitious questions call for a model The goal of the book is not to indoctrinate but to show readers how to reason toward their own conclusions The first chapter on the Walrasian model of general equilibrium serves as the prerequisite for the rest of the book The remaining chapters cover less conventional topics including the morality of markets matching theory Marxism socialism and the resilience of markets a formalization of Kant's categorical imperative unintended consequences of policy design and theories of justice The book can be used as a textbook for advanced undergraduate or graduate students or as a resource for researchers in disciplines that draw on normative economics

Principles of Conflict Economics Charles H. Anderton, John R. Carter, 2009-03-16 Conflict economics contributes to an understanding of violent conflict in two important ways First it applies economic analysis to diverse conflict activities such as war arms races and terrorism showing how they can be understood as purposeful choices responsive to underlying incentives Second it treats appropriation as a fundamental economic activity joining production and exchange as a means of wealth acquisition Drawing on a half century of scholarship this book presents a primer on the key themes and principles of conflict economics Although much work in the field is abstract the book is made accessible to a broad audience of scholars students and policymakers by relying on historical data relatively simple graphs and intuitive narratives In exploring the interdependence of economics and conflict the book presents current perspectives of conflict economics in novel ways and offers new insights into economic aspects of violence

Economics of Higher Education

Robert K. Toutkoushian, Michael B. Paulsen, 2016-03-18 This book examines the many ways in which economic concepts theories and models can be used to examine issues in higher education The topics explored in the book include how students make college going decisions the payoffs to students and society from going to college markets for higher education services demand and supply in markets for higher education why and how state and federal governments intervene in higher education markets college and university revenues and expenditures how institutions use net pricing strategies and non price product differentiation strategies to pursue their goals and to compete in higher education markets as well as issues related to faculty labor markets The book is written for both economists and non economists who study higher education issues and provides readers with background information and thorough explanations and illustrations of key economic concepts In addition to reviewing the contributions economists have made to the study of higher education it also examines recent research in each of the major topical areas The book is policy focused and each chapter analyses how contemporary higher education policies affect the behaviour of students faculty and or institutions of higher education Toutkoushian and Paulsen attempted a daunting task to write a book on the economics of higher education for non economists that is also useful to economists A book that could be used for reference and as a textbook for higher education classes in economics finance and policy They accomplish this tough balancing act with stunning success in a large volume that will serve as the go to place for anyone interested in the history and current thinking on the economics of higher education William E Becker Jr Professor Emeritus of Economics Indiana University

Homo Curator: Towards the Ethics of Consumption Péter Róna, László Zsolnai, Agnieszka Wincewicz-Price, 2024-02-20 This book explores the under researched sources of the consumerist culture and the environmental damage it has brought about The book is an outcome of the symposium on The Ethics of Consumption organised and hosted by the Las Casas Institute at the Blackfriars Hall University of Oxford as part of its Economics as a Moral Science Programme It takes on two contemporary problems the human weakness and capacity for wrong doing and the failure of modern economic theory to account for the moral character of human behaviour and its implicit encouragement of gluttonous life styles In a time when grand political schemes are proposed to revive sustainability of global economy the authors of the papers collected in this book highlight the need for moral renewal without which the most revolutionary structural reforms are bound to fail at producing the desired outcome Topics of the book include the meaning and sources of avarice the attempt to define what is enough exploration of philosophical and theological perspectives which can serve as building blocks for the ethics of consumption This makes the book of great interest to a broad readership of economists social scientists and philosophers Microeconomic Theory
