

Interpersonal communications

Dear Terry and Ryan,

First of all I would like to congratulate you on your engagement and upcoming marriage. I wish you all the best in your new life as husband and wife. Marriage is a life-long commitment that requires a lot of work from both parties involved. One of the key issues in making a marriage work is effective communication. Communication should be open and truthful at all times, and this may at times prove difficult. You may not always agree on all things and it is therefore important for you to be willing to compromise and effectively communicate your wishes to each other. This is the first step towards a fulfilling marriage. In this letter, I will address five important issues in interpersonal communication.

- Principles and misconceptions in effective interpersonal communications

There are several principles which guide interpersonal communication. First, in the marriage setting, it is very important to understand that interpersonal communication is inescapable. It is impossible to have a working marriage without communication. Communication is not only verbal, but it can also be seen through body language, facial expressions, and the tone of voice used. It is also irreversible. Once something has been said it cannot be taken back and it is therefore very important to always choose words carefully. It is also quite complicated as you must always learn what is appropriate for which audience, context or time. It is often easy to be misunderstood. You must treat other respectfully in your communication, avoid interrupting each other, learn to say appropriate things and avoid words that sound judgmental or condescending in your communication. There are several
