Gibbons, 2017-04-21 English and Its Teachers offers a historical overview of the development of secondary English teaching in schools over the past 50 years Initially charting the rise of a new progressive approach in the 1960s the book then considers the implications for the subject and its teachers of three decades of central policy intervention Throughout document and interview data are combined to construct a narrative that details the fascinating and at times turbulent history. The book is divided into two main parts: The age of invention and The age of intervention. The first of these sections details how innovative English teachers and academics helped to develop a new model. The second section explores how successive governments have sought to shape English through policy. A final part draws comparisons with the teaching of the subject in other major English speaking nations and considers what the future might hold. English and Its Teachers is a valuable resource for those interested in the teaching of English in secondary schools from new entrants to the profession to experienced teachers and academics working in the sector. Its intent was to create jobs for Alabamians by making the lives of undocumented immigrants in the state impossible so that they would self deport. It failed. Here We May Rest offers a comprehensive explanation of how and why HB 56 came about and reports on its effects on immigrant communities. Author Silvia Giagnoni argues that the legislation was anti immigrant not merely anti illegal immigration as its proponents claimed. Building a case against the legalistic framework through which the bill was promoted, Giagnoni dissects the role the media and Fox News specifically played in criminalizing immigrants as well as mainstreaming immigrant haters which created the xenophobic climate that paved the way for the Trump Presidency. The new immigrants of Alabama take center stage in the second part of the book reclaiming their role in the cultural social and economic development of the state. Giagnoni concludes with an appeal against any form of social segregation because only direct contact massive prolonged equal and intimate as Howard Zinn argued will cure the stereotyping and prejudice that feed ignorance and foster fear.

direction on its foreign policy first on the British Empire and now on the United States Australia has actively pursued a policy of strategic dependence believing that making a grand bargain with a powerful ally was the best policy to ensure its security and prosperity Dangerous Allies examines Australia's history of strategic dependence and questions the continuation of this position It argues that international circumstances in the world and in the Western Pacific especially now make such a policy highly questionable Since the fall of the Soviet Union the United States has also changed dramatically making it less relevant to Australia and a less appropriate ally on which Australia should rely Malcolm Fraser argues that Australia should adopt a much greater degree of independence in foreign policy and that we should no longer merely follow other nations into wars of no direct interest to Australia or Australia's security He argues for an end to strategic dependence and for the timely establishment of a truly independent Australia

China as a Twenty-First Century Naval Power Michael A McDevitt, 2020-10-15 Xi Jinping has made his ambitions for the People's Liberation Army PLA perfectly clear there is no mystery what he wants first that China should become a great maritime power and secondly that the PLA become a world class armed force by 2050 He wants this latter objective to be largely completed by 2035 China as a Twenty First Century Naval Power focuses on China's navy and how it is being transformed to satisfy the world class goal

Beginning with an exploration of why China is seeking to become such a major maritime power author Michael McDevitt first explores the strategic rationale behind Xi's two objectives China's reliance on foreign trade and overseas interests such as China's Belt and Road strategy In turn this has created concerns within the senior levels of China's military about the vulnerability of its overseas interests and maritime life lines is a major theme McDevitt dubs this China's sea lane anxiety and traces how this has required the PLA Navy to evolve from a near seas focused navy to one that has global reach a blue water navy He details how quickly this transformation has taken place thanks to a patient step by step approach and abundant funding The more than 10 years of anti piracy patrols in the far reaches of the Indian Ocean has acted as a learning curve accelerator to blue water status McDevitt then explores the PLA Navy's role in the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean He provides a detailed assessment of what the PLAN will be expected to do if Beijing chooses to attack Taiwan potentially triggering combat with America's first responders in East Asia especially the U S Seventh Fleet and U S Fifth Air Force He conducts a close exploration of how the PLA Navy fits into China's campaign plan aimed at keeping reinforcing U S forces at arm's length what the Pentagon calls anti access and area denial A2 AD if war has broken out over Taiwan or because of attacks on U S allies and friends that live in the shadow of China McDevitt does not know how Xi defines world class but the evidence from the past 15 years of building a blue water force has already made the PLA Navy the second largest globally capable navy in the world This book concludes with a forecast of what Xi's vision of a world class navy might look like in the next fifteen years when the 2035 deadline is reached
