Venus Flytrap

It's not my fault I ate that fly.
I'm just a dinner appetizing use in the average Carolina bog.
Not enough nitrogen is kept in bog, not green thing that me growing.
So, I turned to a life of trapping.
My fingered traps grow in pairs,
green as clover outside, traps vermilion
inside.

Lured by nectar, the air triggers light, triggering arms... tent... hairs and...

Stanzas

These little bugs,
They thought I'd be their snack
but now they are mine.

Tell whether each fact can be learned from reading the poem, the article, or both.

On each line below, write the word poem, article, or both.

1. _____ Venus Fly Traps grow in the bogs of the Carolina.
2. _____ Most green plants need nitrogen-rich soil to survive.
3. _____ When a Venus Fly Trap catches an insect, it releases fluids that dissolve the insect.

A. Line 8 of the poem says, "green as clover outside, traps vermilion inside." If you read the article carefully, you can discover the meaning of the word vermilion. What is the definition of vermilion?

- a. poisonous
- b. strongly
- c. red color
- d. light green

C. Using the space below, compare and contrast the two feeding methods shown using a Venus flytrap.

Venus Flytrap

We think of meat-eating plants as something rare and exotic, growing in far away jungles. However, the Venus Flytrap is native to the bogs of North and South Carolina in the United States. Carletons have endangered the plants. Now, the plants are grown in greenhouses. You can even order flytrap seeds or flytraps over the internet. This carnivorous plant from the Carolina has become a hot topic for student lab projects.

Venus Flytraps do not get enough nutrients from their natural bogs. You can think of the insects they eat as vitamin supplements. A Venus Flytrap's leaves are shaped like short shells. Insects are attracted by the bright red color, but tiny sensitive hairs inside the leaf lay a trap. When an unfortunate insect lands there first, the leaf snaps shut. Then the flytrap secretes fluids that dissolve the trapped insect, leaving the hard exoskeleton behind.

B. Why do Venus Flytraps need to eat insects?

B. What is the purpose of the tiny hairs on a Venus Flytrap's leaves?
