Extending Applied Linguistics for Social Impact Doris S. Warriner, Elizabeth R. Miller, 2021-06-03 Drawing on but also extending the theories and methods of applied linguistics this book demonstrates how scholars of language might work together and with non language specialists to address pressing concerns and issues of our time Chapters explore efforts to recognize the legitimacy of stigmatized language varieties in public and institutional domains museum based science education for linguistically diverse children how corpus analysis might illuminate the tension between the language choices and commitments of certain leaders the embodied and artistic forms of meaning making that challenge norms of Whiteness and the transformative power of translanguaging in community based theater In addition the volume demonstrates ways to enhance equity in healthcare delivery for immigrant families examines the experiences of cultural health navigators working with refugee background families and highlights the value of raising public awareness of language issues related to social justice These accounts show that applied linguists stand ready to interface with other scholars other institutions and the public to make socially engaged and impactful contributions to the study of language society education and access Collectively the authors respond to an important gap in the field and take a significant step towards a more socially just accessible and inclusive approach to applied linguistics

Crossing Divides Bruce Horner, Elliot Tetreault, 2017-06-01 Translingualism perceives the boundaries between languages as unstable and permeable this creates a complex challenge for writing pedagogy Writers shift actively among rhetorical strategies from multiple languages sometimes importing lexical or discoursal tropes from one language into another to introduce an effect solve a problem or construct an identity How to accommodate this reality while answering the charge to teach the conventions of one language can be a vexing problem for teachers Crossing Divides offers diverse perspectives from leading scholars on the design and implementation of translingual writing pedagogies and programs The volume is divided into four parts Part 1 outlines methods of theorizing translinguality in writing and teaching Part 2 offers three accounts of translingual approaches to the teaching of writing in private and public colleges and universities in China Korea and the United States In Part 3 contributors from four US institutions describe the challenges and strategies involved in designing and implementing a writing curriculum with a translingual approach Finally in Part 4 three scholars respond to the case studies and arguments of the preceding chapters and suggest ways in which writing teachers scholars and program administrators can develop translingual approaches within their own pedagogical settings Illustrated with concrete examples of teachers and program directors efforts in a variety of settings as well as nuanced responses to these initiatives from eminent scholars of language difference in writing Crossing Divides offers groundbreaking insight into translingual writing theory practice and reflection Contributors Sara Alvarez Patricia Bizzell Suresh Canagarajah Dylan Dryer Chris Gallagher Juan Guerra Asao B Inoue William Lalicker Thomas Lavelle Eunjeong Lee Jerry Lee Katie Malcolm Kate Mangelsdorf Paige Mitchell Matt Noonan Shakil Rabbi Ann Shivers McNair Christine M Tardy

The Complexity of Identity and Interaction in Language Education

Nathanael Rudolph, Ali Fuad Selvi, Bedrettin Yazan, 2020-08-07 This book addresses two critical calls pertaining to language education Firstly for attention to be paid to the transdisciplinary nature and complexity of learner identity and interaction in the classroom and secondly for the need to attend to conceptualizations of and approaches to manifestations of inequity in the sociohistorical contexts in which they occur Collectively the chapters envision classrooms and educational institutions as sites both shaping and shaped by larger transcommunal negotiations of being and belonging in which individuals affirm and or problematize essentialized and idealized nativeness and community membership The volume comprised of chapters contributed by a diverse array of researcher practitioners living working and or studying around the globe is intended to inform empower and inspire stakeholders in language education to explore potentially reimagine and ultimately critically and practically transform the communities in which they live work and or study

Sparks,2025-07-11 This book traces and summarizes theoretical insights and empirical findings on the topic of whether or not anxiety for language learning could be a causal variable for individual differences in language learning The author brings together three decades of research to show that first language

L1 skills and second language L2 aptitude are confounding variables in studies of language anxiety and that learners levels of anxiety for L2 learning are strongly related to their levels of language achievement These findings have suggested that language anxiety instruments reflect students accurate self perceptions of their language skills and their levels of L1 achievement and L2 aptitude The research presented in this book holds the potential to change the ways in which L2 educators and researchers think about language anxiety how language anxiety is assessed how investigations into language anxiety are conducted and how L2 teachers respond to anxiety in the classroom

Power, Politics and Territory in the 'New Northern Ireland' Elizabeth DeYoung, 2023-10-15 Winner of the ACIS Donald Murphy Prize for Distinguished First Book 2023

In the wake of the Good Friday Agreement the redevelopment of the former Girdwood Army Barracks in North Belfast was hailed as a symbol of hope for Northern Ireland It was a major investment in a former conflict zone and an internationally significant peacebuilding project Instead of adhering to the tenets of the Agreement sectarianism dominated the regeneration agenda Throughout the process politicians community groups and paramilitaries wrangled over the site s future and territorial contest won out over housing need After eleven years of negotiation and 11 7 million the EU funded Girdwood Community Hub opened its doors to the public in 2016 but its impact has been underwhelming The Hub s redevelopment is a microcosm of the peace process itself and the ways in which post Agreement politics have failed to deliver a shared future for the people of Northern Ireland twenty five years on This ethnography provides a lively account of Girdwood s redevelopment and a wry critique of the fractious political context around it Through fl nerie and encounter the author brings us across peace walls into community meetings and behind the scenes of decision making in Northern Ireland Girdwood s story also sheds light on how power politics and territory intersect in divided cities globally
