Native Title Report 2005:

Native Title Report 2005 Australia. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Commission, Tom Calma, 2005 The purpose of this report is to examine from a non partisan and unbiased perspective some of the issues that have arisen during the debate and assess the proposal to lease Indigenous land against human rights standards existing land rights regimes and economic factors which will determine the effectiveness of the proposal by the NIC Introd Beyond Communal and Individual Ownership Leon Terrill, 2015-10-05 Over the last decade Australian governments have introduced a series of land reforms in communities on Indigenous land This book is the first in depth study of these significant and far reaching reforms It explains how the reforms came about what they do and their consequences for Indigenous landowners and community residents It also revisits the rationale for their introduction and discusses the significant gap between public debate about the reforms and their actual impact Drawing on international research the book describes how it is necessary to move beyond the concepts of communal and individual ownership in order to understand the true significance of the reforms The book s fresh perspective on land reform and careful assessment of key land reform theories will be of interest to scholars of indigenous land rights land law indigenous studies and aboriginal culture not only in Australia but also in any other country with an interest in indigenous land rights Comparative Perspectives on Communal Lands and Individual Ownership Lee Godden, Maureen Tehan, 2010-02-26 A collection of critical debates analyses and evaluations of changing models of property as the vehicle governing access to land and resources Native Title Report 2005 Australia. Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission, 2005 Examines issues arising from the debate on the National Indigenous Council Land Tenure principles and proposed changes to the communal nature of land interests to promote individual home ownership makes recommendations aimed at improving economic development on Indigenous land which uphold Australia s human rights obligations these recommendations develop the principles for economic and social development set out in the Native Title Report 2004 Annexure 2 is the National Indigenous Council Draft Working Document Possible Indigenous Land Tenure Principles Annexure 4 is a chronology of events in native title July 2004 June 2005 Contesting Native Title David Ritter, 2020-08-26 This book debunks in spectacular fashion some of the most treasured over inflated claims of the benefits of native title Professor Mick Dodson ANU Centre for Indigenous Studies David Ritter s fascinating account of the evolution of the native title system is elegant and incisive scholarly and sceptical above all unfailingly intelligent Professor Robert Manne La Trobe University An unsentimental richly informed account of a fascinating period in the history of Australia s relationships with its indigenous people From the Foreword by Chief Justice Robert French After the historic Mabo judgement in 1992 Aboriginal communities had high hopes of obtaining land rights around Australia What followed is a dramatic story of hard fought contests over land resources money and power yielding many frustrations and mixed outcomes Based on extensive research enriched by intimate experience as a lawyer and negotiator

David Ritter offers both an insider's perspective and a cool headed and broad ranging account of the native title system. In lucid prose Ritter examines the contributions of the players that contested and adjudicated native title: Aboriginal leaders and their communities, multinational resource companies, pastoralists, courts and tribunals, politicians and bureaucrats. His account lays bare the conflicts, compromises and conceits beneath the surface of the native title process. The Proposed Nordic Saami Convention Nigel Bankes, Timo Koivurova, 2013-01-31. In 2005 an expert group representing the governments of Norway, Sweden and Finland and the Saami parliaments of these countries agreed upon a draft text of a Nordic Saami Convention. Key parts of the text deal with the recognition of Saami land and resource rights. More recently the three governments have embarked on negotiations to move from this draft text to a final convention that may be adopted and ratified by all three countries. Negotiations commenced in the Spring of 2011 and should be completed within five years. This collection of essays explores the national and international dimensions of indigenous property rights and the draft Convention which recognises the Saami as one people divided by international boundaries. Part one of the book seeks to provide a global and theoretical context for these developments in the Nordic countries with a series of essays dealing with the moral and legal reasons for recognising indigenous property interests and different conceptualisations of the relationship between indigenous peoples and settler societies including recognition, reconciliation and pluralism. Part two of the book examines some international legal issues associated with the Convention including the background to the Convention. Part three turns to examine aspects of the recognition of Saami property interests in each of the three Nordic states while Part four provides some comparative experiences examining the recognition of indigenous property rights in a number of jurisdictions including Canada, Australia and a number of South American states. An additional essay considers gender issues in relation to indigenous property rights. Routledge Handbook of Community Forestry Janette Bulkan, John Palmer, Anne M. Larson, Mary Hobbie, 2022-06-30. This handbook provides a comprehensive overview and cutting edge assessment of community forestry. Containing contributions from academics, practitioners and professionals, the Routledge Handbook of Community Forestry presents a truly global overview with case studies drawn from across Africa, Asia, Europe and the Americas. The Handbook begins with an overview of the chapters and a discussion of the concept of community forestry and the key issues. Topics as wide ranging as Indigenous forestry, conservation and ecosystem management, relationships with industrial forestry, trade and supply systems, land tenure and land grabbing and climate change are addressed. The Handbook also focuses on governance, looking at the range of approaches employed including multi level governance and rights based approaches and the principal actors involved from local communities and Indigenous Peoples to governments and national and international non governmental organisations. The Handbook reveals the importance of the historical context to community forestry and the effects of power and politics. Importantly, the Handbook not only focuses on successful examples of community forestry but also addresses failures in order to highlight the key challenges we are still facing and potential solutions The Routledge Handbook of Community Forestry is essential reading for academics professionals and practitioners interested in forestry natural resource management conservation and sustainable development
