

So before any costly system modification is made, the model will be refined to incorporate these WRC 297 nozzle flexibilities. It is possible that a more thorough and accurate model of the system will show that re-design is not needed. To assist in this model update, CAESAR II provides a processor, which will calculate and insert these flexibilities into the system. This change will constitute the second analysis of this layout.

Return to the input processor for the job Tutor. Go to the spreadsheet that contains the nozzle node (40) and double click the Nozzle check box. Enter the correct data in the Auxiliary Data Area as illustrated in the figure below.

The nozzle pipe size is imported from the spreadsheet. If this nozzle connection had no associated thermal growth, the vessel node number need not be entered. Since this vessel has thermal growth, the vessel node number must be identified and the thermal displacements previously assigned to node 40 must be re-assigned to this new node number. Enter the vessel node number as node 6000. The calculated nozzle flexibilities will be applied between nodes 40 and 6000. The vessel dimensions are entered here in terms of OD, wall thickness, and reinforcing pad thickness. WRC 297 flexibilities are also sensitive to the proximity of stiffeners to the nozzle. Here, a tray in the vessel is closest to the nozzle and is 4 ft above the nozzle. On the other side of the nozzle, the bottom head tangent and skirt connection is 6 ft below. The vessel orientation, based on a direction vector, is entered next. Enter 1 in the Y direction to indicate a vertical vessel. This Z nozzle and Y vessel will define the orientation of the local stiffeners assigned through WRC 297. This completes the definition of the nozzle. There will be no piping element defined between nodes 40 and 6000. Now the displacements provided at node 40 must be moved to node 6000. Simply click on displacements and change node 40 to 6000.

The governance, accountability and internal processes of the supervisors operating under a well functioning twin peaks model are robust. With two tier boards that include independent members and an internal audit department the governance structure of both supervisors is vigorous. Detailed documentation supports the internal processes. The planned activities, several regular publications and comprehensive reporting result in enhanced transparency and accountability of the supervisors. The Netherlands Central Bank De Nederlandsche Bank N.V. DNB and the Netherlands Authority for the Financial Markets Autoriteit Financiële Markten AFM have created second lines of defense that control the quality and consistent application of the supervision. Information sharing and cooperation between the DNB and AFM is well established and allows for the proper functioning of the twin peaks model. At the time of the 2016 FSAP the AFM had been operating under a newly adopted structure for only a few months. The AFM structure needs to reach maximum functionality and efficiency and strong guidance from the board is required to effectively support its supervisory vision and approach.
