Holistic Darwinism Peter Corning, 2010-08-15 In recent years evolutionary theorists have come to recognize that the reductionist individualist gene centered approach to evolution cannot sufficiently account for the emergence of complex biological systems over time Peter A Corning has been at the forefront of a new generation of complexity theorists who have been working to reshape the foundations of evolutionary theory Well known for his Synergism Hypothesis a theory of complexity in evolution that assigns a key causal role to various forms of functional synergy Corning puts this theory into a much broader framework in Holistic Darwinism addressing many of the issues and concepts associated with the evolution of complex systems Corning s paradigm embraces and integrates many related theoretical developments of recent years from multilevel selection theory to niche construction theory gene culture coevolution theory and theories of self organization Offering new approaches to thermodynamics information theory and economic analysis Corning suggests how all of these domains can be brought firmly within what he characterizes as a post neo Darwinian evolutionary synthesis

Explanation in Ethics and Mathematics Uri D. Leibowitz, Neil Sinclair, 2016-05-26 How far should our realism extend For many years philosophers of mathematics and philosophers of ethics have worked independently to address the question of how best to understand the entities apparently referred to by mathematical and ethical talk But the similarities between their endeavours are not often emphasised This book provides that emphasis In particular it focuses on two types of argumentative strategies that have been deployed in both areas The first debunking arguments aims to put pressure on realism by emphasising the seeming redundancy of mathematical or moral entities when it comes to explaining our judgements In the moral realm this challenge has been made by Gilbert Harman and Sharon Street in the mathematical realm it is known as the Benacerraf Field problem The second strategy indispensability arguments aims to provide support for realism by emphasising the seeming intellectual indispensability of mathematical or moral entities for example when constructing good explanatory theories This strategy is associated with Quine and Putnam in mathematics and with Nicholas Sturgeon and David Enoch in ethics Explanation in Ethics and Mathematics addresses these issues through an explicitly comparative methodology which we call the companions in illumination approach By considering how argumentative strategies in the philosophy of mathematics might apply to the philosophy of ethics and vice versa the papers collected here break new ground in both areas For good measure two further companions for illumination are also broached the philosophy of chance and the philosophy of religion Collectively these comparisons light up new questions arguments and problems of interest to scholars interested in realism in any area
