Metadiscourse Ken Hyland, 2005-11-12. This book addresses an important aspect of how language is used in written communication: the ways that writers reflect on their texts to refer to themselves, their readers or the text itself. This is known as METADISCOURSE. Metadiscourse is a key resource in language as it allows the writer to engage with readers in familiar and expected ways. Writers use the devices of metadiscourse to adjust the level of personality in their texts to offer a representation of themselves and their arguments. This helps the reader organise, interpret and evaluate the information presented in the text. Metadiscourse is therefore crucial to successful communication. Knowing how to identify metadiscourse as a reader is a key skill to be learnt by students of discourse analysis. Learning how to use metadiscourse in writing is an important tool for students of academic writing in both the L1 and L2 context. This book has four main purposes: to provide an accessible introduction to metadiscourse, discussing its role and importance in written communication; and reviewing current thinking on the topic to explore examples of metadiscourse in a range of texts from business, academic, journalistic and student writing; to offer a new theory of metadiscourse to show the relevance of this theory to students, academics and language teachers.
