

The background of the book cover is a textured, light greenish-yellow surface. In the upper right, there is a faint, detailed illustration of a human brain. A paintbrush with a yellow handle and a dark, dry brush tip lies diagonally across the center. To the left of the brush, there are several faint, overlapping circles connected by thin green lines, resembling a molecular or network diagram. Below the main title, there are some blue and green paint splatters and small dark dots.
