The dictionary and the language learner

Anthony P. Cowie, European Association for Lexicography, 2015-11-13 No detailed description available for The dictionary and the language learner New Frontiers of Corpus Research, 2016-08-29 This volume presents highlights of the first ICAME conference held in the southern hemisphere in papers on new kinds of corpora for business and communications technology as well as those comprising computer mediated communication and college newspapers The latter yield lively insights into the digitized discourse of younger adults and non professional writers speech communities that have been underrepresented in the standard English corpora Other groups that are newly represented in research reported in this volume are bilingual users of English in Singapore Hong Kong and China as corpus data is brought to bear on second language speech and writing The proposed corpus of spoken Dutch profiled here will support research into its variation in different genres and contexts of use in the Netherlands and in Belgium Research on new historical corpora from C15 to C18 is also reported along with techniques for normalizing prestandardized English for computerized searching Meanwhile papers on contemporary usage show some of the continual interplay between British and American English in grammar and details of the lexicon that are important for English language teachers The Geometry of Choice Marek Kuźniak, 2021-08-19 This book offers a cognitive semantic insight into the roots of the human decisionmaking process using the metaphor of CHOICE as CUBE The areas of key interest are language culture and education as forms of social organization This book addresses issues relevant to a number of fields including social epistemology cognitive linguistics cognitive anthropology philosophy culture and education studies and will be of interest to readers in these and related disciplines Cognitive Lexicography Carolin Ostermann, 2015-07-31 English lexicography and linguistics have always shared close ties yet the potential of cognitive linguistics for lexicography has only been hesitantly acknowledged in the literature This is what cognitive lexicography attempts to change by using insights gained in cognitive semantic research for the development of new dictionary features After a short survey of the history and practice of English monolingual learner lexicography as well as an outline of the relationship between linguistics and lexicography three new dictionary features are developed They cover three different cognitive semantic theories as well as three different parts of the monolingual dictionary entry each time for a new set of lexemes Frame semantics conceptual metaphor theory as well as cognitive conceptions of polysemy are used to create a new example section for agentive nouns a new defining structure for emotion terms and a new microstructural arrangement for particle entries Dictionary analyses on all as well as user studies on two of the features complement these suggestions The monograph thus presents a new approach to lexicography that incorporates into its description of lexical items how humans perceive and conceptualise language Longman Dictionary of Contemporary English Paul Procter, 1995
