Mathematics has always been a vital tool in the architect's trade, but the last fifteen years have seen a sharp rise in the power of computers, and has led to computational abilities far beyond anything previously available. With insight from a top-notch list of contributors including such notables as Philippe Morel and Fabien Scheurer, Mathematics in Space discusses how the advent of computation and information technology has affected the work of contemporary architects. This new title in the Architectural Design series updates architectural mathematics since the digital revolution. With world-class contributors, this is an essential resource for anyone interested in the ways computation has transformed the discipline. The book explores fascinating issues in modern design, most importantly the impact of mathematics on contemporary design creativity.
