Loudon,2010-03-16 The World We Want compares the future world that Enlightenment intellectuals had hoped for with our own world at present In what respects do the two worlds differ and why are they so different To what extent is and isn t our world the world they wanted and to what extent do we today still want their world Unlike previous philosophical critiques and defenses of the Enlightenment the present study focuses extensively on the relevant historical and empirical record first by examining carefully what kind of future Enlightenment intellectuals actually hoped for second by tracking the different legacies of their central ideals over the past two centuries But in addition to documenting the significant gap that still exists between Enlightenment ideals and current realities the author also attempts to show why the ideals of the Enlightenment still elude us What does our own experience tell us about the appropriateness of these ideals Which Enlightenment ideals do not fit with human nature Why is meaningful support for these ideals particularly within the US so weak at present Which of the means that Enlightenment intellectuals advocated for realizing their ideals are inefficacious Which of their ideals have devolved into distorted versions of themselves when attempts have been made to realize them How and why after more than two centuries have we still failed to realize the most significant Enlightenment ideals In short what is dead and what is living in these ideals

Lessons from the Lobster Charlotte Nassim, 2018-06-26 How forty years of research on thirty neurons in the stomach of a lobster has yielded valuable insights for the study of the human brain Neuroscientist Eve Marder has spent forty years studying thirty neurons on the stomach of a lobster Her focus on this tiny network of cells has yielded valuable insights into the much more complex workings of the human brain she has become a leading voice in neuroscience In Lessons from the Lobster Charlotte Nassim describes Marder's work and its significance accessibly and engagingly tracing the evolution of a supremely gifted scientist's ideas From the lobster's digestion to human thought is very big leap indeed Our brains selectively recruit networks from about ninety billion available neurons the connections are extremely complex Nevertheless as Nassim explains Marder's study of a microscopic knot of stomatogastric neurons in lobsters and crabs a small network with a countable number of neurons has laid vital foundations for current brain research projects Marder's approach is as intuitive as it is analytic but always firmly anchored to data Every scrap of information is a pointer for Marder her discoveries depend on her own creative thinking as much as her laboratory's findings Nassim describes Marder's important findings on neuromodulation the secrets of neuronal networks and homeostasis Her recognition of the importance of animal to animal variability has influenced research methods everywhere Marder has run her laboratory at Brandeis University since 1978 She was President of the Society for Neuroscience in 2008 and she is the recipient of numerous awards including the 2016 Kavli Award in Neuroscience and the 2013 Gruber Prize in Neuroscience Research that reaches the headlines often depends on technical fireworks and especially on spectacular images Marder's work seldom fits that pattern but this book demonstrates that a brilliant scientist working carefully and thoughtfully can produce groundbreaking results
