Urban Travel Patterns for Hospitals, Universities, Office Buildings, and Capitols Louis E. Keefer, David K. Witheford, 1969 Travel patterns were studied for hospitals colleges and universities office buildings and state capitol complexes The analyses include trip generation trip distribution and general trip characteristics such as trip purpose and mode of travel Data were obtained from many origin and destination studies conducted during recent years for urban transportation planning processes Trips to and from specific types of land use were studied The trip generation characteristics are related to various quantifiable factors for each specific land use through the use of multiple regression analyses Nature-Inspired

Algorithms for Optimisation Raymond Chiong, 2009-05-02 Nature Inspired Algorithms have been gaining much popularity in recent years due to the fact that many real world optimisation problems have become increasingly large complex and dynamic The size and complexity of the problems nowadays require the development of methods and solutions whose efficiency is measured by their ability to find acceptable results within a reasonable amount of time rather than an ability to guarantee the optimal solution This volume Nature Inspired Algorithms for Optimisation is a collection of the latest state of the art algorithms and important studies for tackling various kinds of optimisation problems It comprises 18 chapters including two introductory chapters which address the fundamental issues that have made optimisation problems difficult to solve and explain the rationale for seeking inspiration from nature The contributions stand out through their novelty and clarity of the algorithmic descriptions and analyses and lead the way to interesting and varied new applications
