Forecast/Management manages demand, including making demand-based and generating demand-driven actions and modifications. Forecast management includes (1) forecasting (2) order entry (3) order processing (4) forecasting forecast customer requirements, corporate orders and service level requirements.

Forecasting attempts to predict sales or other characteristics in plan for the aggregation of resources or manufacturing to meet demand. It therefore may be based on quantitative information, result in quantitative independent business judgments. The accuracy of the forecast must be assessed and measured, and a forecast quality score for independent forecast.

Distribution Resource Planning is the planning activity associated to a distribution network, as well as the management of distribution resources.

Master Scheduling includes specifying ordering and processing orders from customer, distribution company and company operations. Order scheduling is organizing the customer requests and resources with the master schedule.

Sales and Operations Planning manages marketing plans with the development of the supply chain. The primary focus of the plan for sales, marketing, product development, manufacturing, ordering and financial resources integrated at (1) plan for product group and individual products. The S&OP is the blueprint plan for the near-to-far work, allowing for resource planning and to support business planning. Output includes:

- Sales plan
- Production plan
- Financial plan
- New product development plan
- Inventory / working plan

Master Scheduling includes activities to prepare the master production schedule (MPS). The MPS is defined to meet the production plan according to the supply process. The MPS is the aggregated master schedule used to specify product configurations. The MPS is a combination of production and a forecast of product demand. For make-to-stock companies, the MPS is used to derive all end product items. For assemble-to-order companies, the MPS is a combined parts options called planning bills. In a make-to-order
