Law and the Political Economy of Hunger Anna Chadwick, 2019-01-31 This book is an inquiry into the role of law in the contemporary political economy of hunger In the work of many international institutions governments and NGOs law is represented as a solution to the persistence of hunger This presentation is evident in the efforts to realize a human right to adequate food as well as in the positioning of law in the form of regulation as a tool to protect society from unruly markets In this monograph Anna Chadwick draws on theoretical work from a range of disciplines to challenge accounts that portray law s role in the context of hunger as exclusively remedial The book takes as its starting point claims that financial traders caused the 2007 8 global food crisis by speculating in financial instruments linked to the prices of staple grains The introduction of new regulations to curb the excesses of the financial sector in order to protect the food insecure reinforces the dominant perception that law can solve the problem Chadwick investigates a number of different legal regimes spanning public international law international economic law transnational governance private law and human rights law to gather evidence for a counterclaim

law is part of the problem The character of the contemporary global food system a food system that is being progressively financialized owes everything to law If world hunger is to be eradicated Chadwick argues then greater attention needs to be paid to how different legal regimes operate to consistently privilege the interests of the wealthy few over the needs of poor and the hungry

The Negotiability of Debt in Islamic Finance Abdulaziz Ahmed Almezeini,2017-01-09 The challenges posed by the non liquidity and non diversity of the Islamic debts market make the market an inefficient tool on contributing to Muslim economic growth Islamic scholars and experts created sukuk as an Islamic debt instrument to avoid riba usury but the sukuk market especially in the Gulf still struggles with the prohibition of the trade of debt due to the prohibition of the two Fiqh Academies Trading and securitizing debts should be permitted in Islamic law with one condition that the debt should be considered low risk This new rule the permissibility of trading debts is supported by three Islamic legal bases istishab qiyas and maslaha which are recognized by all four Islamic schools of legal thought Furthermore permitting the trading of debts is more consistent with the principles and theories of Islamic law than is forbidding it It is consistent with the obligations theory that debt is a personal right It is consistent with the mal property theory that debt may be sold according to the three Islamic schools of legal thought all of which consider debt as property It is consistent with other modern Islamic financial transactions that are permitted by the two Fiqh Academies such as tawarruq and murabaha
